

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

ANNUAL REPORT

OF THE

ATTORNEY-GENERAL

OF THE

UNITED STATES

FOR

THE YEAR 1892.

WASHINGTON:
GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.

1892.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
Washington, D. C., December 1, 1892.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled:

As required by law, I herewith submit a report of the business of the Department of Justice during the last year.

Accompanying the report will be found a statement of the disbursements out of the appropriations under the control of the Attorney-General, statistics as to crimes committed against the United States prosecuted and punished, and in relation to prisoners undergoing punishment for such crimes.

An examination of this report will show that the business of the Department is continually and largely increasing. This increase, perhaps, is most noticeable in the business before the Court of Claims. The reference to that court, for investigation and findings, of claims for the taking and injury to property of persons assuming to have been loyal during the war, such claims being already between 9,000 and 10,000 in number and in amount aggregating nearly $400,000,000; and still more recently, the duty imposed upon that court of trying claims for Indian depredations, such claims already filed being over 8,000 in number and aggregating over $33,000,000, are very suggestive of the growing work of the Department.

SUPREME COURT.

I am glad to be able to report that, as the result of the organization of the circuit court of appeals, the number of cases in the Supreme Court is being reduced.

The docket of the Supreme Court of the United States at the close of the last term, as compared with the condition at the close of the term next preceding, shows a decrease of 120 cases. At the close of the December term, 1890, there remained undisposed of on the appellate docket 1,190 cases, and on the original, 9 cases. The number of cases docketed at the October term, 1891, was 383, of which 379 were on the appellate and 4 on the original docket, making the total number of cases on the docket for that term 1,582, of which 1,569 were on the appellate, and 13 on the original docket. Of this number 503 were disposed of, and of these 496 were on the appellate and 7 on the original docket. The actual number of cases considered by the court was 257, of which 242 were argued orally and 78 submitted on printed arguments. Of the 496 appellate cases disposed of, 185 were affirmed, 103 reversed, 105 dismissed, 97 settled by the parties and dismissed, 2 in which questions certified to the court were answered, and 4 which were denials of petitions for writs of certiorari under the act of March 3, 1891.

The number of cases decided at this term (October term, 1891) in which the United States was concerned was 43, of which 22 were decided in favor of, and 20 against, the United States, and in 1 criminal case questions certified were answered. Of those in which the United States appealed 9 were affirmed, 6 were reversed, and 1 dismissed. Four cases were appeals from the Court of Claims, in 3 of which the judgment was affirmed and 1 reversed.

Besides the cases decided in which the United States was concerned 35 others were disposed of; and of these, 16 were dismissed at the instance of the United States, 2 having been compromised; 6 by the other side, 1 having been compromised; 2 by stipulation, 5 by the court for failure by the appellant to comply with the rules, the United States in these latter cases being appellee; and in 6 cases the judgment of the lower court was reversed, either by confession of error on the part of the United States or by stipulation. Thus the total number of cases disposed of at the October term, 1891, in which the United States was interested, was 78.

The above does not include 5 cases on the original docket in which the United States was interested, 4 of which were decided in favor of, and 1 against, the United States.

CIRCUIT COURTS OF APPEALS.

During the past year the additional circuit judges for the several circuits, nine in number, to complete the organization of the circuit courts of appeals, were appointed, and such courts have been, during the entire year, discharging their functions as appellate courts.

The total number of cases filed in such several circuit courts of appeal prior to the 1st day of November, 1892, was 841; and the number of such cases disposed of was 403, leaving still pending in such courts 438. For more detailed information as to the number of such cases filed and disposed of in the several circuit courts of appeal, and the number of civil and criminal cases and cases appealed to the Supreme Court, reference is made to Exhibit 1.

In my last annual report attention was called to the necessity for some provision for the care of the business of the Government in the circuit courts of appeals. It was then stated that, in the absence of any statutory provision, the district attorneys had been directed to follow their cases into those courts, and there care for them. But there is no provision of law for payment for their services or for their expenses in such cases, and I again urge that some definite legislation be had upon this subject. The duty of fixing the amount to be paid as compensation to attorneys for professional services is one of the most difficult and unpleasant imposed upon the Attorney-General. The necessity for such discretionary action ought to be, by legislation, reduced to the minimum. This whole subject of the management of the Government's business in the circuit courts of appeals ought to have the careful attention of Congress.

COURT OF PRIVATE LAND CLAIMS.

The attorney of the United States for the Court of Private Land Claims has submitted a statement of the business of that court during the year, which is made a part of this report and marked Exhibit 2.

This report shows that there have been filed in that court since its organization a total of 43 cases, in 42 of which the Government is defendant, in 1 plaintiff. Of these cases, 37 are from New Mexico and 3 from Arizona. The total number of acres of land claimed in the New Mexican grants aggregates 2,629,051.52 acres; in Arizona grants, 67,395.74. Of these cases, 7 have been tried and final decrees of confirmation rendered, covering 268,363.58 acres.

By section 12 of the act organizing this court a limitation of two years is provided within which time all petitions must be filed, or, in default of such filing, the claims shall be taken to be abandoned and forever barred. This act was approved March 3, 1891. And as the end of this period of limitation approaches, it is stated by the attorney, that claims are being filed much more rapidly than heretofore, more than half of those now pending upon the docket having been filed since the August term of the court of the present year.

For fuller details reference is made to the report of the attorney above referred to. (Exhibit 2.)

COURT OF CLAIMS.

By the report of the Assistant Attorney-General having charge of the business of the Government in the Court of Claims, other than that pertaining to Indian depredations, a largely increased volume of work during the past year is shown. (Exhibit 3.)

This report gives in detail the number and disposition of causes in that court under the various jurisdictions, and shows that as against 656 cases tried during the preceding year, 840 were disposed of by trial during the past year, being an increase of over 30 per cent.

Under the act of March 3, 1883, known as the Bowman Act, 248 cases were disposed of during the year: the aggregate of claims covered by said cases being $2,583,939.41. In 158 of these cases findings were made against the Government, and for an aggregate sum of $485,546.36. The claims of this class growing out of the alleged taking of supplies and other property during the war are assuming enormous proportions. They already aggregate nearly $400,000,000, and the Department has reliable information that a multitude of additional claims, aggregating very large sums, are being prepared to be filed and pushed against the Treasury. That a very large proportion of these claims have no just foundation either in fact or law, being presented by persons, or the representatives of persons, who were not loyal to the Government during the war, is every day made clear in the evidence evolved in their defense. In numerous cases, where testimony has been produced of the entire loyalty of claimants to the Union during the war, by the discovery of documentary evidence, such as election returns on the vote for secession, vouchers for supplies furnished to the Confederate government, enlistment rolls, registry of Confederate bonds, etc., the attorneys of the Government have been able to demonstrate the disloyalty of claimants, and thus defeat the claims. But of course such evidence can be found only in exceptional cases, and unless Congress shall put some new barrier between the Treasury and these claims, it is impossible to predict the amount the Government may be called upon to pay thereon. Ordinarily a statute of limitations bars claims resting on perol evidence after six years. Why, with all the temptations to fraud and perjury, a different rule should apply to these claims is not apparent.

Under the general and special jurisdictions 337 cases, claiming over $20,000,000, were disposed of during the past year. In 275 of these cases decisions were made in favor of the claimants for an aggregate of a little over $1,500,000, the precise figures in all cases being shown in the report of the Assistant Attorney-General.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

During the year 1 case, claiming over $33,000, against the District of Columbia, was decided in favor of claimants for $1,868.58. There are now pending 22 cases against the District of Columbia.

FRENCH SPOILIATION.

Since the date of my last report there have been made in French spoliation cases decisions in favor of the claimants aggregating $889,054, and the total amount allowed up to this date, in 716 cases, is $3,241,223. The total number of petitions which have been filed is 5,569, claiming an aggregate of about $40,000,000; and the cases yet undisposed of are in number 4,000, and claim something like $37,000,000.

ACCUMULATION OF BUSINESS IN THE COURT OF CLAIMS.

Especial attention is called to the statement in the report of the Assistant Attorney-General showing the growth of the business of this court. The total number of cases now pending, under all jurisdictions, is 21,909, an increase in the past year of 2,818. The total number of cases disposed of during the past year was 1,214. If this business is to be done, it needs no argument to show that the working force of the court, as well as of the Department of Justice, must be increased.

This report of the Assistant Attorney-General also shows the business in the circuit and district courts under the act of March 3, 1887, giving jurisdiction of claims against the United States to those courts.

INDIAN DEPREDACTIONS.

Another branch of the work of the Department in the Court of Claims, already referred to, is under the act of March 3, 1891, "To provide for the adjudication and payment of claims arising from Indian depredations." The report of the Assistant Attorney-General in charge of this branch of the service is made a part of this report as Exhibit 4.

By this exhibit it is shown that there have been filed, prior to November 1, 1892, 8,596 petitions. The aggregate amount of claims represented in such petitions is $33,151,050.67.

There have been disposed of 337 cases, in 244 of which judgments were in favor of claimants, and 93 in favor of the Government. The aggregate amount of the judgments above referred to is $482,718.87, the amounts claimed in the cases in which such judgments were rendered being about double that amount. In the cases wherein judgments were rendered in favor of the Government the demands aggregate $469,300.25.

To summarize: The aggregate of the claims disposed of is $1,373,757.56; the amount of judgments recovered on such claims being $482,718.87, or a little more than 33 per cent of the demand.

For the payment of all judgments rendered prior to the 1st of July, 1892, provision was made at the last session of Congress. A detailed statement of all judgments is included in the report of the Assistant Attorney-General. The report also shows that these claims are represented in every State and Territory, and the number from each State and Territory. It also shows the tribe or band of Indians to whom such depredations are chargeable. Necessarily the defense of these claims involves a large amount of labor and expense. Depositions have to be taken, in many and very remote parts of the country, upon claims varying in age from 1814 to the time of the hostilities in the Sioux war in 1891. The appropriation for this service for the year beginning July 1, 1892, is $25,000, and the report of the Assistant Attorney-General shows distinctly that, if this work is to be carried forward with the energy and success which its importance requires, at least $10,000 more will be necessary during the current year.

The reports of both the Assistant Attorneys-General having charge of business in the Court of Claims make it clear that, while that court is doing a very large amount of work, its capacity, as at present organized, is not equal to the demands of the business, and that its work is falling further in arrears every year.

REPORT OF THE SOLICITOR OF THE TREASURY.

The Solicitor of the Treasury makes a report showing the successful conduct of that Bureau during the year ending June 30, 1892.

This report embraces a series of tables. These tables are set forth as Exhibit 5.

The following is a summary of this report:

1. Suits on transcripts of accounts of defaulting public officers, excepting those of the Post-Office Department, adjusted by the accounting officers of the Treasury Department.
2. Post-office suits, embracing those against officers of the Post-Office Department, and cases of fines, penalties, and forfeitures for violations of postal laws.
3. Suits on custom-house bonds.
4. Suits for recovery of fines, penalties, and forfeitures under the custom-revenue and navigation laws.
5. Suits against collectors of customs and other officers or agents of the Government, excepting internal-revenue officers, for refund of duties and acts done in the line of their official duty.
6. Suits in which the United States is a party or is interested and not embraced in the other classes.
7. A general summary or abstract of all the other tables.

An examination of the tables will show that the whole number of suits commenced within the year was 5,152, of which 12 were of class 1, for the recovery of $33,271.81; 540 were of class 2, for the recovery of $59,451.49; 38 were of class 3, for the recovery of $13,547.49; 247 were of class 4, for the recovery of $30,899.69; 308 were of class 5, and 4,007 were of class 6, for the recovery of $2,190,839.76, making a total sued for as reported $2,328,010.24.

Of the whole number of suits brought, 3,157 were decided in favor of the United States, 43 were adversely decided, 657 were settled and dismissed; in 8, penalties were remitted by the Secretary of the Treasury, leaving 1,287 still pending.

Of those pending at the commencement of the year, 1,037 were decided in favor of the United States, 94 were decided adversely, 1,770 were settled and dismissed, and in 3, penalties were remitted by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The whole number of suits decided or otherwise disposed of during the year was 6,769; the whole amount for which judgments were obtained, exclusive of decrees in rem, was $454,810.92; and the entire amount collected from all sources was $325,471.93.

The number of cases in which offers of compromise were pending and received during the fiscal year was 129, involving the sum of $4,208,310.28.

The number of offers accepted was 94, involving the sum of $4,009,065.80; amount accepted, $151,854.61.

The number of offers rejected was 18, involving the sum of $140,196.41; amount rejected, $14,635.14.

The number of offers pending at the close of the year was 15, involving the sum of $59,048.07; amount offered, $12,629.87.

A statement of real property, in charge of this office, acquired in the collection of debts due the United States during the fiscal year, or previously acquired and not heretofore reported, is also appended.

The number of letters and communications received by this office during the fiscal year was 8,771; the number of official bonds, contracts, leases, and deeds received for examination as to their correctness in form and as to their legal sufficiency, and returned was 921; the number of letters and communications sent out was 5,072; the number of opinions rendered on questions of law submitted by the Secretary of the Treasury or by the heads of bureaus of the Treasury Department was 99—that is, written opinions, exclusive of the larger number of verbal opinions touching various questions presented by the Secretary and heads of bureaus and divisions.

UNITED STATES PRISONS AND PRISONERS.

I beg to call the attention of Congress again to the bill passed by the Fifty-first Congress authorizing the construction of three United States prisons, to be located, one north and another south of the thirty-ninth degree of north latitude, and east of the Rocky Mountains, and the third west of the Rocky Mountains.

It is believed to have been the purpose of the Fifty-first Congress, in passing the law in question (26 Stat., p. 839), to make the necessary appropriation for the construction of such prisons, but, upon a careful examination, it was found that such appropriation was not made. The result is that nothing has been done towards the location or construction thereof. The need of such prisons is very urgent. The act of Congress approved February 23, 1887, forbidding the employment of United States prisoners upon contract work, makes it difficult at all times to find suitable State institutions for the confinement of such prisoners. The systems of discipline in the different States are very diverse. The credits for good behavior are unequal, in some States such credits being practically nothing, and in others very large, amounting in a five years' sentence to nearly two years, the result being that prisoners are often impressed with a sense of inequality and injustice in their treatment, as compared with others guilty and sentenced for like offenses. I recommend that an appropriation be made with a view to the location and construction of the United States prisons as above provided for.

The report of the general agent, herewith submitted as Exhibit K, shows the following:

There were 1,810 United States prisoners serving sentences in the various State prisons June 30, 1892. The greater number of these prisoners were confined in the house of correction at Detroit, Mich., the Albany County penitentiary at Albany, N. Y., and the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio. To better accommodate Federal prisoners, there have been recently assigned to the Iowa State penitentiary at Anamosa, Iowa, and the Minnesota State prison at Stillwater, Minn., prisoners from additional territory, the assignments being from territory heretofore given to the Ohio penitentiary at Columbus, Ohio. In making these assignments the prison management, discipline, and the general welfare of the prisoners have been considered.

Prisoners convicted in United States courts in many of the States are sent to local prisons. Three-fifths, however, of the United States prisoners are confined in the prisons above named.

REFORM SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

The bill making appropriations for the expenses of the government of the District of Columbia for the year ending June 30, 1893, contains the following:

For the erection and completion, according to plans and specifications to be prepared by the inspector of buildings and approved by the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, of a suitable building or buildings, to be used as a reform school for girls, thirty-five thousand dollars, to be expended under the direction of said Commissioners. Said building shall be erected on land belonging to the United States, to be selected by the Attorney-General, the Secretary of War, and the Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia: Provided, That if, in their judgment, a suitable site can not be obtained on lands now owned by the United States, not exceeding five thousand dollars of the sum herein appropriated may be used for the purchase of not exceeding twenty acres of ground, to be selected by them, on which to erect said Reform School for Girls: Provided, further, That said building shall not be erected on land belonging to the Reform School of the District of Columbia.

In pursuance of this legislation the Secretary of War, the Engineer Commissioner of the District of Columbia, and the Attorney-General have selected as the site for such reform school the tract of land owned by the Government, comprising about 20 acres, at the junction of the Conduit and Loughborough roads; said site is about 3½ or 4 miles west of the city, is high, easy of drainage, with a fine, broad view across the Potomac, and is believed in all respects to be admirably adapted for the purpose contemplated.

There is filed with this report a statement of the trustees of such school showing that the plans for the erection of the buildings are now being prepared, and that it is hoped that such buildings may be ready for occupation in the early spring of next year.

REFORM SCHOOL, DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

The report of the board of trustees of the Reform School (for boys) is attached, marked Exhibit L.

The report shows urgent need for additional accommodations. That 16 boys are in the workhouse, 23 in the jail, and over 100 discharged the past year with nominal fines on account of there being no room in the Reform School emphasizes this as a pressing demand.

It must be borne in mind that this institution is the only one of its kind under the control of the Government, and to it juvenile offenders are sent from remote districts. Owing to its crowded condition I have been compelled of late to make arrangements with State reform schools, at greater expense, for juvenile offenders.

It is important that the boys be employed in some useful occupation, and Congress should make an appropriation that would enable the board of trustees to furnish simple machinery and teach them some useful trade.

The male juvenile convicts of the United States are mainly confined in the Reform School for Boys in the District of Columbia, and the House of Reformation at Cheltenham, Md.

The report of the board of trustees shows:

Number of boys in school July 1, 1892,	206
Number received from July 1, 1891, to July 1, 1892	116
From supreme court, District of Columbia	19
From United States courts	11
From police court, District of Columbia	71
Committed by president board of trustees	15

Average	201
Number discharged during the year:
.....	114
By board of trustees	104
Change of sentence of court	3

The report of the board of trustees is compact and full of valuable information, and I earnestly ask the attention of Congress to the same without further repetition of its contents.

PARDONS.

The report of the attorney in charge of pardons, filed as Exhibit O, sets out in detail the cases in which applications for pardons have been made and acted upon, with the reasons for such action. A summary of these cases is as follows:

Number of applications filed during the year.....	505
Number of pardons during the year	71
Number of sentences commuted.....	92
Number of respites granted.....	4
Number of applications for remission of forfeited recognizances allowed.....	17
Number of applications for amnesty granted.....	4
Number of applications for pardon or commutation of sentence denied.....	53
Number of applications for remission of forfeited recognizance denied.....	8
Total number of cases passed upon by the President.....	249
Total number of cases not submitted to President.....	256
	<hr/> 505

Those cases not submitted to the President may be classed as adversely reported upon by United States attorneys in the different districts and now filed away, or as pending in the hands of said attorneys, or awaiting submission to the President.

JAIL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

In my last report I urged the importance of a change in the management of this jail. The appointment and discharge of the warden, guards, etc., are under the control of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, while the expenses, including the fixing of salaries, paying of officials and employes, and the furnishing of supplies rest with the Attorney-General. I repeat that the entire responsibility for this institution ought to be either in the court or in the Attorney-General. The authority responsible for the expenses ought to have control of appointments and removals, and vice versa the authority having charge of appointments and removals ought to be responsible for expenses. The necessity for such change is emphasized by the present condition of things at the jail. The discipline is bad; good supplies in abundance are not infrequently turned into bad food, and generally the management is not creditable either to the supreme court of the District of Columbia or to the Department of Justice.

In this connection I quote a letter written to the Attorney-General by the judges of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, which speaks for itself:

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 4, 1892.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL:

Your communication of March 15 to the chief justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia has been brought to our attention, together with copies of two bills relating to the management of the United States jail in this District. The judges of this court have for several years been of the opinion that no part in the management of the jail should be assigned to the court. With six judges assigned to duty in the different branches of the court, with overcrowded calendars, it is exceedingly difficult to get a meeting of all for the consideration of the many questions that arise in reference to such management. The court, from the very fact that it is constituted to act judicially, is not in a condition to act efficiently in executive matters of this character. The judges can not settle questions as to discipline, conduct of officers, guards, and employes satisfactorily without either personal visitations and inspection or causing evidence to be duly taken. They do not have time for the former, nor have they power under the law to take testimony. Much doubt and annoyance often occurs by reason of the divided jurisdiction between this court and the Department of Justice. We therefore renew the request, made a few years since to your immediate predecessor in office, that Congress be petitioned to relieve this court by investing the power to control and manage the jail and its officers, employes, and prisoners in such other offices or Department of the Government as it may deem wise and expedient. You are at liberty to use this communication in any way that you may deem proper in aid of securing the necessary legislation to consummate the desired change.

Yours, most respectfully,

E. F. BINGHAM, C. J.
A. B. HAGNER.
WALTER S. COX.
CHARLES P. JAMES.
A. C. BRADLEY.
M. V. MONTGOMERY.

The report of the warden is hereto attached, marked Exhibit 7, and I invite attention to his recommendations.

POTOMAC FLATS LITIGATION.

The suit for the settlement of the title to the tract of land in the District of Columbia known as the Potomac flats is of great public interest in this District. The status of that case is set forth in a letter of the district attorney under date of November 14, 1892, as follows:

UNITED STATES DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S OFFICE,
Washington, D. C., November 14, 1892.

SIR: In response to your note in regard to the case of the Potomac flats, I beg leave to say that the hearing has been delayed by extensions of time granted by the court to certain defendants within which to conclude the testimony in their behalf.

The time limited by the last extension expired on October 10 last, and the case was set down for hearing on the 23d of this month.

The extent and nature of the testimony in rebuttal on the part of the Government could not be determined until all the defendants had closed theirs, and it could not be printed until made part of the record.

As the record will be quite bulky and the parties to the suit exceedingly numerous, the hearing will necessarily consume considerable time, in view of which and the present condition of the court, and the fact that the Schneider case has been fixed for hearing early in December, it is quite likely that the case of the flats may go over until the beginning of the January term.

Owing to the unavoidable delay in getting the complete testimony of the defendants into the hands of the printer, he may not be able to furnish us the printed record entire by the 23d instant, in which event, if it suits the convenience of the court, I shall suggest that the hearing proceed upon so much of the record as has been printed and the examiner's original of the residue.

Very respectfully,

C. C. COLE,
United States Attorney, District of Columbia.

The ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

TEXAS BOUNDARY CASE.

This case, involving the title to 1,517,000 acres of land embraced in the territory lying at the southwest corner of Oklahoma, has been pending for over two years. The bill filed by the Government was met by demurrer, denying the jurisdiction of the court in a suit against a State. The various questions as to jurisdiction were argued before the Supreme Court, and on February 29, 1892, the demurrers were overruled and the jurisdiction of the court sustained. The case is being pushed by the Government as rapidly as possible. The evidence for the United States was concluded and filed many months since. No evidence for defendant has yet been taken, but her counsel are now promising prompt action in taking the same and speeding the case to final hearing.

THE BELL TELEPHONE CASE.

On January 11, 1892, the Government closed its testimony in the suit against the Bell Telephone Company, having examined 103 witnesses. On motion of the defendant, the United States circuit court for the district of Massachusetts, on January 25, 1892, entered an order allowing until October 1 for the taking of defendant's testimony. Within this time the defendant's testimony was not completed, and upon application made by defendant for further time the same has been granted by the court till February 25, 1893. From the past history of the case it seems certain that no effort to delay the progress of the case will be omitted by defendant. By far the largest portion of the time consumed in taking of plaintiff's testimony was in the cross-examinations.

The report of the attorney in charge of these cases is herewith filed, marked Exhibit Q.

PACIFIC RAILROAD AND TELEGRAPH LITIGATION.

As shown in my last report, the following suits have been brought by the United States under the act of August 7, 1888 (25 Stat., 382), requiring all railroads receiving subsidies from the United States, whether in money, land, or bonds, by and through their respective corporate officers and employes, to maintain for railroad, governmental, commercial, and all other purposes, telegraph lines, and making it my duty by proper proceedings to enforce the provisions of the act.

An examination of the original acts of Congress by which the railroads received the subsidies referred to will show that such aid was given by the United States as much for the building and maintaining of telegraph lines as for the purpose of building and maintaining railways. In all instances these railroads had, by lease or other contract arrangements, attempted to devolve the maintenance and operation of the telegraph lines upon the Western Union Telegraph Company. It was to destroy these arrangements that the act was passed. Pursuant to the directions therein contained, I caused the following suits to be commenced:

(1) One suit in the circuit court of the United States for the district of Nebraska against the Union Pacific Railroad and the Western Union Telegraph Company. In this suit the evidence is being taken.

(2) One suit against the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, the Western Union Telegraph Company, and the Northwestern Telegraph Company, in the circuit court for the district of Minnesota.

(3) One suit against the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company in the northern district of Iowa.

(4) A suit against the Central Pacific Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company in the circuit court for the northern district of California.

(5) A suit against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company in the circuit court for the northern district of California.

Since my last report, Mr. Justice Brewer, circuit justice for the eighth circuit, has handed down his decision in the case against the Union Pacific Railroad Company and the Western Union Telegraph Company, in which he has sustained the validity of the act, and directed that the Union Pacific Railway Company shall resume the telegraph business, and all existing arrangements with the Western Union Telegraph Company are declared null and void. This decision was announced on the 28th of March, 1892, since which time much trouble has been experienced in settling the terms of the decree to be entered therein, the vast property interest involved making that duty particularly difficult. The decree was entered on the 11th day of October, 1892, and an appeal has been taken by the defendant companies.

In the case of The United States vs. Southern Pacific Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, and Western Union Telegraph Company, and also the United States against the Central Pacific Railroad Company, Southern Pacific Company, and Western Union Telegraph Company, both pending in the circuit court of the United States for the northern district of California, hearings have been had before Mr. Justice Harlan, sitting as circuit justice, in lieu of Mr. Justice Field, who was disqualified. Upon the questions raised by demurrer, and motions to dismiss for want of jurisdiction, and also pleas to the jurisdiction by which it was claimed on behalf of the defendants that a corporation can be sued in the Federal courts only in its charter State, it was contended in behalf of the United States that the act of August 13, 1888 (25 Stat., p. 434), providing that a defendant should only be sued in the district whereof he was an inhabitant, was to be construed as applied to corporations in such way as to make a corporation an inhabitant, as distinguished from citizenship, of every State in which it maintained general offices for the transaction of business. This contention was sustained by Mr. Justice Harlan and an order entered overruling the demurrers, motions, and pleas aforesaid.

In view of the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of Shaw vs. Quincy Mining Company (145 U. S., 444), it may well be questioned whether the broad proposition contended for relative to the inhabitancy of the corporation will be finally sustained by the Supreme Court. The result reached may be sustained upon another ground argued before Mr. Justice Harlan, but not passed upon by him, viz, that the ordinary rule would not apply in a case in which the United States is complainant. The defendants in these cases have, since the action referred to, procured orders extending the time within which they are compelled to answer, to January 9, 1893. Similar pleas were also filed to the jurisdiction in the cases brought against the Sioux City and Pacific Railroad Company and Western Union Telegraph Company in the northern district of Iowa, and the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, the Western Union Telegraph Company, and the Northwest Telegraph Company in the circuit court for the district of Minnesota, and similar orders have been entered overruling the pleas.

The district attorneys in all of these cases have been directed to oppose all efforts on the part of the defendants to obtain further time and to hurry these cases to an issue, in order that testimony may be taken and a decision reached upon the merits of the controversy. The case appealed to the Supreme Court against the Union Pacific Railroad Company will, in the meantime, probably have been advanced and decided, and if the decision below is sustained, there can be no reasonable doubt about the result in the other cases. In this connection I desire to renew the recommendation contained in my last report, that section 1 of the act of August 13, 1888 (25 Stats., 434), be amended by inserting the proviso, in italics, after the word "inhabitant" in the following sentence, namely: "And no civil suit shall be brought before either of said courts against any person by any original process or proceeding in any other district than that whereof he is an inhabitant:" Provided, That any foreign corporation may be sued in any district where it may be found, process to be served as in like cases in the State where said suit or action is brought.

Such an amendment would restore the law to what it was for a century prior to the act of March 3, 1887, and would impose on these corporations a liability to be sued corresponding to the right they enjoy to sue as plaintiffs, and to remove suits in which they are defendants.

Such an amendment is also in the interest of justice. In many localities these great corporations have an unwarranted influence among the people who are summoned as jurors in the State courts, and it is not just that the Southern Pacific Company which, though chartered in Kentucky, does not own any property in that State, and has no offices or officers there, except a mere clerk, but which operates vast lines of railroad in the State of California, where it holds and controls millions of dollars of property, and holds its directors' meetings and maintains its general offices, shall be exempt from suit in the United States courts in California and the litigant be required to go to Kentucky to enforce his claims; and after obtaining a judgment there (if he is fortunate enough to find any person upon whom to obtain service) be compelled to go to California and sue there upon the judgment or decree in the State courts. It may be said that such action should have been brought in the State court in the first instance. In answer it is suggested that these corporations when sued in the State court are, under the law, enabled to remove their cases to the Federal courts. If it is wise to vest them with this right of choice as to the forum where they will conduct their litigation, it is thought that an equal right should be given to the private litigant.

THE EASTERN BAND OF CHEROKEES.

There have been great delays in the prosecution of the suit to settle the title to the lands of the Eastern Band of Cherokees in western North Carolina, by reason of complications which led the district judge, generally holding the circuit court, to decline to act in the premises. I am glad now to report that one of the circuit judges has taken the matter in hand, ruled in favor of the Government upon some long-pending questions, and the prospect is now for prompt work in taking the evidence and disposing of the case.

BLACK BOB INDIAN LITIGATION.

The district attorney for Kansas files a statement of the proceedings in the case of the United States against the Black Bob band of Shawnee Indians, which is marked Exhibit R. In his communication transmitting the same the district attorney says:

We could have taken testimony as to part of the defendants this summer, but it would have been an extra large expense to the United States, and the entire case could not be closed, and I have gone upon the theory that it was more economical for the Government to take the entire testimony at once than to make several trips to the Territory, which would have increased the costs of the suit several hundred dollars. The case is in such shape that the testimony can be taken and the case submitted at the June Term, 1893, and the matter closed.

PROTECTION OF FEDERAL OFFICERS, PRISONERS, WITNESSES, ETC.

In my last annual report attention was called to the case then pending on appeal to the Supreme Court from the circuit court of the northern district of Texas, growing out of the attack by a mob upon prisoners in the custody of United States deputy marshals while being transferred from one jail to another. The parties who made this attack were indicted for conspiracy and murder under sections 5508 and 5509 of the Revised Statutes, being a conspiracy to deprive these prisoners of rights guaranteed to them by the Constitution and laws of the United States. In that report I said:

On the first trial the jury disagreed; but upon a second trial a verdict was returned for the Government, finding three of the ringleaders of the mob, who were all officials of the county, guilty under section 5508, and they were sentenced by the court to the full limit of the law, namely, to each a fine of $10,000 and five years in the penitentiary. In this case a writ of error has been taken to the Supreme Court and it is now there pending for hearing.

Upon the hearing in the Supreme Court it was contended on behalf of the prisoners, plaintiffs in error, that the case was not covered by section 5508, because, it was insisted, the prisoners had no right to look to the United States for protection, that the only protection they had a right to claim was the protection of the State of Texas; and that, while under the decisions of the Supreme Court the Government had probably a right, and possibly a duty, to protect these prisoners, the prisoners themselves had not a right, guaranteed by the Constitution and laws of the United States, to demand such protection from the United States Government.

The Supreme Court, however, in deciding the case, gave no countenance to this claim, but held that prisoners in the custody of the officers of the United States had a right to the protection of the United States; and that parties attacking them did so in violation of "the peace of the United States," and must answer for the consequences under the section of the statute named. In short, the decision of the court upheld all the principles contended for by the Government, though the case was reversed for technical errors in the admission of testimony.

TRUSTS, COMBINATIONS, ETC.

Under the "Act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restraints and monopolies," approved July 2, 1890, proceedings among others have been taken in the courts during the past year as follows:

In the district court of Massachusetts proceedings were instituted against a number of persons alleged to have combined for the purpose of monopolizing the trade or commerce among the several States, under the name of The Distilling and Cattle Feeding Company. A special agent of the Department spent many weeks hunting up the facts pertaining to the business of this concern, and those facts were by the United States attorney in Boston laid before the grand jury and indictments were found against parties interested in the enterprise.

One of these indictments was quashed for insufficiency. Another indictment obtained is now pending in the circuit court, its sufficiency undetermined by that court, though in hearings had upon arrests made in Ohio and New York it was held that the facts set forth in the indictment, which it is believed are the facts as they will appear upon the proof, did not bring the case within the terms of the Anti-Trust statute, or constitute a crime. Other indictments are also pending in that district upon which, among others, are presented questions as to the constitutionality of that statute.

Proceedings also have been commenced in the eastern district of Pennsylvania under the same law by bill in equity against parties alleged to have combined for the purpose of monopolizing the trade in refined sugars between the different States of the Union, and the United States and foreign nations. In the last-named suit, an answer has been filed and the evidence is now being taken. For the purpose of assisting the United States attorney in Philadelphia in prosecuting the last-named suit, Hon. Samuel F. Phillips, of Washington, late Solicitor-General of the United States, has been appointed as special counsel and is actively engaged in the prosecution of said suit.

A suit has also recently been commenced in the circuit court of the eastern district of Louisiana, in equity against parties alleged to have combined by threats, intimidation, and violence to hinder and restrain interstate and foreign commerce in New Orleans and throughout the country, the purpose of said bill being to obtain an injunction against such illegal combination and conspiracy, and an order to show cause in the premises has been issued, returnable on the 26th of November, 1892.

Investigations have been made in reference to other alleged violations of this law by other alleged combinations of persons and corporations. As was to have been expected, it has been found, in all cases investigated, that great care and skill have been exercised in the formation and manipulation of these combinations so as to avoid the provisions of this statute, and, as has been seen in the proceedings growing out of the indictments in Massachusetts, these efforts have not been without success. It is hoped, however, that in the cases commenced the validity of this statute and its applicability to the abuses which have become very common in the business of the country, under the name of trusts, may be demonstrated. If so, the investigations made and the evidence accumulated in cases where no proceedings have been commenced, will be valuable.

PERJURY CASES IN OKLAHOMA.

The strife for precedence in entering claims for homesteads in Oklahoma, when the lands within that Territory were thrown open for settlement, resulted in much disorder and many cases of false swearing. Persons whose anxiety to fasten upon valuable lands outweighed their respect for law went into the Territory in advance of the day fixed by the President's proclamation, selected their lands, and thus, prepared in advance, quickly made their way to the land offices to secure their entries. In the language of the country, such people were denominated "sooners;" and I am glad to say that, by a vigorous administration of the law, many of them have been deprived of their ill-gotten advantages. The Department takes a just pride in the fact that 15 of these persons have been prosecuted for perjury, and that in not a single case has the prosecution miscarried. This shows not only vigorous and earnest work on the part of the officers of the Territory having this business in their charge, but, better still, it proves that the juries are selected from a population of law-abiding, conscientious, and intelligent men.

THE MORMON CHURCH LITIGATION.

The report of the United States attorney for the Territory of Utah is herewith submitted, giving the status of the litigation touching the property of the Mormon Church. - (Exhibit P.)

The point of most interest in that report is the recent decision of the supreme court of the Territory in reference to the use to which the escheated property is to be devoted according to the requirements of the decree of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Two plans were presented to the master in chancery for the disposition of this fund.

The one presented by the United States attorney proposed that the same should be applied for the benefit of the common schools of the Territory.

The other, presented by the representatives of the Mormon Church, proposed that the fund be vested in the first presidency of said church and their successors, the income thereof to be applied to the relief of the poor of the church, and to the building, maintenance, or repair of houses of worship.

The master in chancery reported in favor of the Government plan, but the supreme court of the Territory disapproved this plan and adopted that proposed by the Mormon Church, except that instead of vesting the fund in the first presidency, the court appointed one Leonard G. Hardy, a member of the church, a commissioner for the execution of the decree under the direction of the court. From this decree an appeal has been taken to the Supreme Court of the United States, as it is believed that the decree practically returns the fund to the very hands from which it was taken, under the statute and decree of the Supreme Court of the United States.

ITATA CASE.

The appeals referred to in my last report in regard to these cases have not as yet been heard or decided.

IMPORTANT LITIGATION IN THE SUPREME COURT.

In my last report I also noted the pendency of a number of other important cases in the Supreme Court awaiting decision. Among these were the cases questioning the constitutionality of the tariff act known as the McKinley bill, the anti-lottery act, and the act providing for the classification of worsteds as woolens, the validity of the latter act being questioned on the ground that the rule providing for the counting of a quorum in the House of Representatives was unconstitutional. I now have to report that each one of these cases was decided by the Supreme Court in favor of the Government, the constitutionality of all the laws in question being upheld.

The decision in the lottery case, it is believed, has inflicted a mortal wound upon the Louisiana Lottery Company.

I also have to report that the suit brought on behalf of the attorney-general of Canada, to test the rights of Canadian sealing vessels in Bering Sea, popularly known as the "Sayward Case," was decided in favor of the United States Government; that is, it was held by the Supreme Court that the settlement of the controversy could not be withdrawn from the political department of the Government and devolved upon the Supreme Court by such proceedings.

The only constitutional question of any importance decided against the Government, was the one raised in the Counselman case under the interstate-commerce law, whether a witness in a Federal court can be compelled to testify against himself, under the provisions of the statute that such testimony shall not be used against him. It was held the statute last named is not a full protection, and that the witness need not testify.

DEGREES OF MURDER.

My last report contained the following, which I deem of sufficient importance to repeat:

I have heretofore called attention to the fact that in most of the States the statutes recognize degrees in the crime of murder, and prescribe corresponding punishment. In the Federal system no such distinction, either in the crime or the punishment, is known. The penalty prescribed for murder, whether it be of that atrocity which under the State statute would be characterized as murder in the first degree, or the lesser offense known as murder in the second degree, is death. The court, in passing sentence upon the verdict, has no discretion, and the only relief where the death penalty ought not to be inflicted is an application for executive clemency. Moreover, juries, knowing that a verdict of guilty necessarily involves the death penalty, naturally refuse to find such a verdict in many cases where they would readily find a verdict of murder in the second degree. It seems to me that this state of things ought to be remedied by statute.

AMENDMENT OF LAWS OF ALASKA.

I also repeat what was said in my last report in reference to the amendment of the laws relating to Alaska.

From information, official and unofficial, in regard to the administration of the laws of Alaska, I am impressed that such administration is not satisfactory, and that it can only be made satisfactory by new legislation. It is not doubted that many members of Congress have fuller knowledge upon this subject than the writers such knowledge in many cases being derived from actual observation in that remote Territory. Nevertheless, I venture to make some suggestions looking to changes, and, as I think, to improvements in regard to the courts. In the first place, my information is that by reason of the character of the population it is next to impossible to procure good and impartial jurors, especially for the trial of cases growing out of the illegal introduction and sale of intoxicants; and it has been suggested to me that the laws with reference to this class of misdemeanors and probably others could be much better enforced if it were provided that the trial of such cases, where the punishment is in no case to exceed three or four months, should be without jury. It is stated that jurors will not convict for such offenses, and the result is that they go unpunished. It is, I think, not doubtful that Congress has the power to dispense with juries in this class of cases. (See Callan v. Wilson, 127 U. S., 540.)

Another great improvement, I think, would be in providing that no part of the compensation of any court officer in Alaska shall be by way of fees. The fee system is bad enough in the States, where the officers taxing the fees are subject to the supervision of their official superiors, where the public eye is upon them, and where the public press is open to complaint and ready to criticise. But in a remote district like Alaska, with a large and only partially civilized populace, with practically no supervision by official superiors, by the public, or by the press, the abuses of the system are liable to be intolerable. The salaries should be made sufficient to procure the services of good men, and all fees charged should be turned into the public treasury.

There is within my knowledge no subject more loudly calling for Congressional attention than the condition of the people and the administration of the laws in Alaska.

THE EVILS OF THE FEE SYSTEM.

I also repeat what was said in my last report in reference to the evils of the fee system:

The attention of Congress has been repeatedly called to this subject by my predecessors, as well as by myself, and were the evils of the system less I should hesitate to again ask that it be changed. As, however, every year and month makes more plain that the payment of United States attorneys, marshals, and commissioners results yearly in a vast expenditure of public money, not only to no good purpose, but, what is worse, in creating and pushing forward prosecutions with a view solely to make fees against persons who ought not to be prosecuted at all, I should fall short of what I believe to be my duty if I did not urge a change in the interests of the just administration of the laws as well as of public economy. I believe that if these officers were paid stipulated salaries, fairly commensurate with the work they have to perform, the total costs of the courts by reason of the great reduction in the fees and mileage of jurors, prisoners, and officers would be greatly lessened, and that with positive improvements in the administration of the laws.

I am glad to note that at the last session of Congress this matter was earnestly taken in hand by the Senate Judiciary Committee, and it is hoped that legislation on the subject will be pushed to a practical result.

COURT CRIERS.

Section 715 of the Revised Statutes authorizes the circuit and district courts to appoint criers for their courts, to be allowed $2 a day.

In pursuance of this authority, for many years the courts have been wont to appoint such criers.

The last session of Congress, however, without repealing this provision of section 715, failed to make any appropriation for these salaries.

Numerous requests have been made to me by the judges of the courts that the attention of Congress be called to this, with a recommendation that the necessary appropriation be made for the continuance of this service; such recommendation is made.

The fact is, these criers do not serve merely in the capacity of criers, but act as messengers, and make themselves generally useful about the courts, rendering services that, if not thus obtained, will have to be provided for in some other way.

WRITS OF ERROR IN CRIMINAL CASES.

Another recommendation, to my mind of great public interest, I desire to make. Under the present statutes of the United States (26 Stat., pp. 827, 828) a defendant in a criminal case is given a writ of error to the Supreme Court in the following cases:

- (1) In case of conviction of a capital or otherwise infamous crime.
- (2) In any case involving the construction or application of the Constitution of the United States.
- (3) In any case involving the constitutionality of any law of the United States, or where the validity or construction of a treaty is drawn in question.

In all other cases such defendant is given a writ of error to the circuit court of appeals. On the other hand, in no case is such writ of error allowed to the Government. This is contrary to the established practice in England and in most of the States of the Union.

In Wharton's Criminal Proceedings, ninth edition, at section 773, it is said:

At common law, as accepted in most jurisdictions in this country, a writ of error can not be taken by the prosecution to review an adverse judgment on a demurrer or other procedure before the trial court. In most States this is now permitted by statute.

As the law now stands, therefore, it is in the power of a single district judge, by quashing an indictment, to defeat any criminal prosecution instituted by the Government, and to annul as against the Government any criminal statute enacted by Congress, and there is no possible remedy or way to right the wrong. This is not a speculative suggestion, but is an actual experience which has occurred more than once since the enactment of the statute creating the circuit court of appeals, and is liable to occur at any term of the court in any district.

It is not apparent why such a state of things should be continued. There is no constitutional difficulty in the way, no reason why a statute should not be enacted authorizing a writ of error on behalf of the Government, in any case where a final judgment is rendered adverse to the Government, upon the sufficiency of an indictment, or upon any question preceding the prisoner's jeopardy. Bishop (Criminal Law, 7th edition, sec. 1024) says:

Probably some judges have refused the writ to the State, from not distinguishing sufficiently between cases in which the rehearing would violate the constitution, and cases in which the prosecuting power has the same inherent right to a rehearing as a plaintiff has in a civil suit.

As already stated, nearly all of the States, by statutes, have corrected the mischief, and unless Congress is willing that its legislation shall be annulled by the decision of a single judge, that body ought to enact similar legislation.

DEPUTY MARSHALS IN OKLAHOMA.

In compliance with the act of Congress (p. 299, 27 Statutes at Large), I caused to be investigated and ascertained the amounts due to such persons as rendered service in Oklahoma since the lands therein were opened to settlement by proclamation of the President, under orders of the United States marshal, as deputies.

The total amount of the claims presented was $47,047
 Amount recommended by the examiners to be allowed..... 14,748
 Amount of appropriation by Congress for the payment of accounts found due upon such investigation..... 20,000

I also caused to be examined the claims of deputy United States marshals for services in doing police duty at the opening of the "Iowa" and the "Sac and Fox" agencies, and the following is a list of the claimants and the full amount of compensation they are entitled to, as recommended by the examiners, which is submitted to Congress for its action:

Thornton Downing	$33	John McAvoy	$33
H. B. Robertson	15	S. T. Combs	30
E. L. Drake	12	E. P. Kelley	48
Monroe Neal	15	Ike Steele	27

L. S. Prater	9	John P. Jones	24
Harry Mounts	27
J. M. Robbins	27
Ransom Payne	6	Total	1,542

I recommend that authority be granted to pay these claims, aggregating $1,542, out of the unexpended balance of the $20,000 appropriation above specified.

EXHIBITS ACCOMPANYING THIS REPORT.

The following is a concise statement of the title and contents of each of the exhibits accompanying the report:

Exhibit 1 is a tabular statement showing the number of cases, civil and criminal, before the United States circuit courts of appeal from the date of organization to the 1st of November, 1892, with the number disposed of.

Exhibit 2 is the report of the United States attorney for the Court of Private Land Claims.

Exhibit 3 is a report of the Assistant Attorney-General in charge of the business of the Government in the Court of Claims.

Exhibit 4 is a report of the Assistant Attorney-General in charge of Indian depredation claims.

Exhibit A is a statement of the civil suits, to which the United States was a party, terminated in the circuit and district courts of the United States during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, and of such suits pending in said courts July 1, 1892, as reported by the district attorneys.

During the last fiscal year 2,009 civil suits were terminated. In 1,018 of these judgments were for the United States; in 136, against the United States, and 802 were either nolle prosequied, dismissed, or discontinued; 2 were appealed from the district to the circuit court, 44 from district or circuit to circuit court of appeals, and 7 from the circuit to the Supreme Court. Many of the civil suits reported nolle prosequied, dismissed, or discontinued, were settled by the authority of the Treasury Department, and discontinued under its direction. There were pending July 1, 1892, 2,264 civil suits to which the United States was a party.

Exhibit B is a statement of the criminal prosecutions terminated in the circuit and district courts of the United States during the last fiscal year, and of such prosecutions pending July 1, 1892.

There were terminated during the last year 18,724 criminal prosecutions; 194 of these were prosecutions under the customs laws, in which there were 121 convictions, 21 acquittals, and 52 were entered nol. pros., discontinued, or quashed; 7,268 under the internal revenue laws, in which there were 4,137 convictions, 1,336 acquittals, and 1,795 were entered nol. pros., discontinued, or quashed; 1,635 under post-office laws, in which there were 1,174 convictions, 143 acquittals, and 318 entered nol. pros., discontinued or quashed; 134 under election laws, in which there were 13 convictions, 9 acquittals, and 113 entered nol. pros., discontinued, or quashed; 1,142 under intercourse and naturalization acts, in which there were 934 convictions, 71 acquittals, and 137 entered nol.

pros., discontinued, or quashed; 159 under the pension laws, in which there were 85 convictions, 29 acquittals, and 45 entered nol. pros., discontinued, or quashed; 61 for embezzlement, in which there were 35 convictions, 5 acquittals, and 21 entered nol. pros., discontinued, or quashed; 8,131 miscellaneous prosecutions, in which there were 5,046 convictions, 1,507 acquittals, 1,578 entered nol. pros., discontinued, or quashed.

In many of the prosecutions under the internal-revenue laws entered nol. pros., discontinued, or quashed, a compromise and settlement were made in the Internal Revenue Bureau of the Treasury Department.

There were pending July 1, 1892, 9,709 criminal prosecutions, viz: 103 for violation of customs laws; 4,210 for violation of internal-revenue laws; 732 for violation of post-office laws; 105 for violation of election laws; 41 under naturalization laws; 190 under the intercourse laws; 161 under pension laws; 71 for embezzlement, and 4,096 miscellaneous prosecutions.

Exhibit C shows the amount arising and realized from civil suits to which the United States was a party, and from criminal prosecutions in the circuit and district courts of the United States during the last fiscal year.

The aggregate amount of the judgments rendered in favor of the United States in civil suits during the last year was $276,500.92, and the amount actually collected on these judgments was $67,223.56, while $20,793.45 was obtained during the year on judgments rendered in former years for the United States, and $102,135.62 was otherwise realized in civil suits.

EXHIBIT 2.—Report of the United States attorney for the Court of Private Land Claims.

SANTA FE, N. MEX., October 18, 1892.

SIR: As attorney of the United States for the Court of Private Land Claims, I have the honor to submit the following report of the condition of the business of this office:

Since the organization of the court, the United States has been served, up to the 15th of October in 39 cases and is plaintiff in 1, making 40 cases in all. There are 3 cases which have just been filed, but upon which no service has as yet been had. Of this number 37 are from New Mexico and 3 from Arizona. In 39 of these cases the United States is defendant, and in 1, from Arizona, the United States is the plaintiff, to wit, the Los Nogales de Elias claim.

The total amount of land claimed under the 37 grants in New Mexico is about 2,629,051 acres; each amount can not be stated as many of them have never been surveyed, and are only estimated as claimed by the claimants. The total amount as claimed and estimated by the claimants in Arizona is 67,395 acres, making the total amount presented for confirmation 2,696,447 acres.

CASES IN NEW MEXICO.

Final judgment has been entered against the United States in 7 of these cases in New Mexico, as follows:

Juan Chaves et al., plaintiffs, v. The United States, defendant. No. 1. Cubero grant; never reported to Congress. Amount of land claimed 47,743 acres; amount of land confirmed (estimated), 16,000 acres. An appeal was prayed and allowed in this case, and the transcript is now being prepared to accompany my special report and recommendation thereon.

Carlos W. Lewis, plaintiff, v. The United States, defendant. No. 7. Bernabe. Montano grant. Private land claim No. 49, as reported to Congress. Amount of land claimed, 151,000 acres; amount confirmed, 43,597 acres. In my report upon this case I recommended that no appeal be prosecuted. Since that time, upon motion of the United States attorney, the decree has been re-formed to conform more nearly to testimony, and I have instructed the clerk to certify the decree to Commissioner of the General Land Office.

City of Albuquerque, plaintiff, v. The United States, defendant. No. 8. Albuquerque grant. Private land claim No. 130, as reported to Congress. The amount of land claimed was 4 square leagues, 17,361 acres. Upon this claim I have heretofore made a special report recommending no appeal.

During the trial of the case of the city of Socorro v. The United States, I became convinced that the law did not warrant in either case a confirmation to 4 square leagues, and prayed an appeal, which was allowed. The transcript is now being prepared, which will be forwarded you with an additional report on the case recommending the prosecution of the appeal.

Thomas Torres et al., plaintiffs, v. The United States, defendant. No. 10. Rancho del Rio Grande grant. Private land claim No. 58, as reported to Congress. The amount of land claimed is 109,043 acres. The amount confirmed the same. My special report and recommendations in this case will be forwarded in a few days.

City of Socorro, plaintiff, v. The United States, defendant. No. 13. Socorro grant; never reported to Congress. Amount of land claimed, 4 square leagues, or 17,361 acres. Amount confirmed the same. In this case an appeal was prayed and allowed. The transcript is now being prepared, which, when finished, will accompany my special report and recommendation.

Salvador Romero et al., plaintiffs, v. The United States, defendant. No. 14. Francisco Montes Vigil grant. Private land claim No. 128, as reported to Congress. Amount of land claimed, 35,000 acres. The amount confirmed the same. No appeal was prayed in this case. My special report and recommendations in this claim will be forwarded in a few days.

Juan de Dio Romero et al., plaintiffs, v. The United States, defendant. No. 21. Cristobal de la Serna grant. Private land claim No. 158, as reported to Congress. The amount of land claimed, about 30,000 acres. The amount confirmed the same. No appeal was prayed in this case; my special report upon this case, together with my recommendations, will be forwarded in a few days.

The following claims have been on trial, and upon intimation by the court that they would be rejected, leave was asked and granted to produce further testimony and authorities to sustain them, and the causes continued.

Francisco A. Montoya et al., plaintiffs, v. The United States, defendant. No. 4. San Antonio del Rio Colorado grant. Private land claim No. 76, as reported to Congress. The amount of land claimed, 18,955 acres. Decree of rejection suspended for further authorities as to the powers of a prefect to dispose of the public lands of the Republic of Mexico. No further report will be made upon this claim until the decree is entered, when a special report will be made in conformity to the provisions of the act creating the court.

Julian Martinez et al., plaintiffs, v. The United States, defendant, No. 5, Arroyo Hondo Grant. Private land claim No. 159, as reported to Congress. The amount of land claimed, 23,040 acres. Decree of rejection suspended for further testimony and authorities as to the genuineness and legality of the grant. The title papers in this case were objected to for want of authentication and proof of execution by the proper authorities. No further report will be made upon this case until the decree is entered, when a special report will be made in conformity to the provisions of the act creating the court.

Villa de Santa Fe, plaintiff, v. The United States, defendant. No. 19. Santa Fe grant. Private land claim No. 88, as reported to Congress. The amount of land claimed is 4 square leagues, or 17,361 acres. The suit was instituted by the board of county commissioners of the county of Santa Fe. To this petition the United States demurred upon the ground that the board of county commissioners had no authority to prosecute the claim. The demurrer was sustained, and leave was given the city of Santa Fe, if it so desired, upon proper application, to be substituted as the plaintiff in the case. This leave has not been availed of, and unless it is by the first day of the next term I shall move for a dismissal of the case.

The remaining cases in New Mexico are in various stages of preparation for trial.

The area of the seven cases carried to judgment, as claimed and as confirmed, is as follows:

Area as claimed.....	Acres.. 407,508
Area as confirmed.....	268,365
Total amount claimed, but rejected.....	139,133

The area of the two cases which the court announced would be rejected, but in which the decrees were withheld, is as follows: 41,995 acres.

Of the area confirmed by this court, 268,365 acres, 50,722 acres are involved in appeals recommended.

CASES IN ARIZONA.

The Algodones Land Company, plaintiff, v. The United States, defendant. Rancho el Paso de los Algodones grant. The amount of land claimed is about 30,000 acres. This was tried at Denver last June, at which time a partial report was made to the Department. The case went off on the question of forgery by a divided court, three to two, and judgment was entered for the United States, rejecting the claim and dismissing the plaintiff's petition.

The plaintiff filed a petition to set aside the judgment and for a rehearing, which was granted at Santa Fe, during the August term. The case now stands for trial at the November term. I still hope to be able to defeat this grant.

The other two cases in Arizona are in course of preparation for trial.

Attached to this report is a tabulated statement of all claims in which the United States has been served, under the designation by which they are commonly known, giving the area claimed in each, and the area confirmed where confirmation has been had.

The numbers at the left of the table are the case numbers in the court records.

Of the cases now on the docket of this office, more than one-half were filed and served during and since the August term of the court.

The cases that have been tried and carried to judgment, except three, are community grants, in which the title papers were genuine and the parties have been in actual possession ever since the grant claiming under it and to which the United States could find no special defenses.

When the United States is served with process, the case is entered upon the docket of this office under its proper number and a full record made, style of case, name and designation of grant, its date, its reported number, when reported, together with a description of the property as claimed, its area, and such action as may be taken from time to time and the description of the property as finally confirmed and area confirmed.

The work is now increasing as the time for filing these claims draws to a close. The reasons for the delays were as numerous as the claims, but those holding the small grants and those owned by the communities, I have no doubt, are being delayed from ignorance in many cases, and often from inability to obtain counsel to prosecute their claims. While the large grants held by the individuals and corporations have been waiting the result of Congressional action, upon many amendments which have been introduced in Congress to the act creating the court; these, of course, will get in before the expiration of the two years, unless Congress should before that time extend the time for instituting suits.

As to the work of this office, I have to thank the Department for employing Mr. Will M. Tipton to assist me in this work. It is, as a rule, not hard to determine whether a grant has been made; but when one goes to the archives, old, badly arranged, and much worn, for a history of the claim it requires a peculiar knowledge of the archives, as well as their general arrangement and condition and some familiarity with the grants themselves. Since his employment Mr. Tipton has been of great service to this office and the Government in finding the material which in many instances throws light upon ancient claims.

The cases are being taken up in their order except in those where the records are plain and reliable and the rights of the parties easily determined, in which case they are disposed of at once.

The greatest difficulty we find in all this litigation is as to the proper boundaries and areas of the various grants. Mr. Tipton is a practical surveyor, and has examined the surveys of many of them, and is of great assistance in this respect.

In a number of these cases we shall move slowly, as they cover enormous areas, and the old records, all in Spanish, must be overhauled, which is slow work. There are several old indexes, in Spanish, relating to grants and various actions upon them, in the surveyor-general's office, which should be translated and retranscribed, as in their present condition they are practically worthless. This I shall meet by a special report, in which I shall ask the concurrence of the court in order that we may have you recommend some action by Congress looking to that end as soon as possible.

My special reports upon all the claims carried to judgment will be forwarded as soon as the transcripts shall be finished.

The term of court established at Denver, Colo., was abolished on October 1, and all records and cases transferred to Santa Fe.

I am under many obligations to the court and the individual members for the kindness and consideration shown me, and have tried to meet it by prompt and courteous performance of the duties of this office.

I have also to thank the Department for its confidence and good will in the past, and hope to merit it in the future.

I have the honor to be, your obedient servant,

MATT. G. REYNOLDS,

United States Attorney for the Court of Private Land Claims.

EXHIBIT 3.—Report of the Assistant Attorney-General in charge of the business of the Department of Justice in the Court of Claims.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
Washington, D. C., November 18, 1892.

SIR: I respectfully submit the following report of the business of the Department of Justice in the Court of Claims, except that pertaining to Indian depredations, which is not in my charge:

The last annual report extended to the first day of November, 1891, and this report covers the ensuing year.

BOWMAN ACT.

Under the act of March 3, 1883, known as the Bowman act, the court acted during the year on 248 cases, claiming $2,583,939.41, findings in which have been or will be reported to Congress. Of this number 75 cases, claiming $356,611.51, were dismissed by the court, 68 because claimants or those they represent were disloyal and 7 for other causes.

In 15 cases, claiming $869,189.41, findings favorable to the United States on the merits have been filed by the court. In 158 cases, claiming $1,358,138.49, findings favorable to claimants were filed for $485,546.36.

In addition to the foregoing, findings of fact have been filed by the court in the case of The New York Indians v. The United States. This was a suit brought to recover the value of certain land in the State of New York alleged to have been appropriated by the Government in violation of treaty rights. The court found the value of such land to be $1,971,295.92, omitting all questions of law and without deciding whether the United States are or are not responsible for any portion of such amount.

DEPARTMENTAL CASES.

During the year 2 cases involving controverted questions of law and fact have been transmitted to the court by the Treasury Department and 1 case by the Interior Department, making 11 cases now pending.

One of these cases, claiming $75,719, was brought to a hearing and decided adversely to the claimant.

GENERAL AND SPECIAL JURISDICTIONS.

Under these jurisdictions 337 cases, claiming $20,239,846.92, have been disposed of. Of this number 275 cases, claiming $19,373,255.40, have been decided favorably to claimants for $1,570,642.19. In 62 cases, claiming $866,591.52, judgments were in favor of the defendant; of these, 37 cases claiming $23,053.68, were dismissed on motion of the defendant for nonprosecution.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

During the year 1 case, claiming $33,956.53, has been decided in favor of claimant for $1,868.58. There are now pending 22 cases.

FRENCH SPOILIATIONS.

Since the date of my last report the Court of Claims has received 246 French spoliation cases, and in those of them decided in favor of the claimants has allowed $889,054. During the past year 290 cases have been argued and submitted. The claimants having dismissed 244 cases, the condition of this business is shown by the following table:

Petitions filed in all	5,569
Amount claimed, partly estimated.....	$42,000,000
Cases decided.....	716
Amount allowed in 716 cases.....	$3,241,223
Petitions dismissed by claimants	244
Cases yet to be disposed of.....	4,609

The petitions still pending cover an aggregate of claims of about $37,000,000.

RECAPITULATION.

1891.

The cases disposed of on motion for nonprosecution	637
Cases disposed of by trial or submission on briefs.....	636
Total number of cases in the several jurisdictions disposed of by trial or otherwise during the year ending November 1, 1891.....	1,273

1892.

Cases disposed of on motion for nonprosecution.....	37
Cases disposed of by trial or submission on briefs.....	840
Total number of cases in the several jurisdictions disposed of by trial or otherwise during the year ending November 1, 1892.....	877

It thus appears that over 200 more cases were tried during the last than in the preceding year.

BUSINESS OF THE COURT OF CLAIMS DURING PAST YEARS.

In my last report I called attention to the necessity of some action on the part of Congress for the relief of the Court of Claims and the Department of Justice. I renew the suggestions there made.

The following table shows the suits brought under the general jurisdiction during each year, ending November 1, 1892:

Year.	Number.	Amount.

Total pending November 1, 1892	7,868

The total number of cases, under all jurisdictions, now pending on the dockets of the Court of Claims is 21,909. This is an increase in the number pending over that of the previous year of 2,818.

The whole number of suits disposed of in various ways, including Indian depredation cases, during the past year is 1,214, so that the increase is more than twice the number disposed of.

Taking into consideration the facts disclosed by the above figures, they emphasize the suggestions made in the last report as to the future work of the Department of Justice and the Court of Claims. If a necessity existed, as was clearly shown by the former report, of an increased force in the Department of Justice and a remodeling of the Court of Claims, the facts herein demonstrate the necessity of such changes.

Credible information has reached this Department that in addition to the vast number of claims filed before committees in Congress, and not yet reported, large numbers are being obtained by agents soliciting them, to be filed for the purpose of future transmission to the Court of Claims. It is impossible to determine either the number or the amount of this peculiar class of claims which will be filed. No other bureau of the Government needs to be in the possession of a more vigilant and active force than the Department of Justice in the Court of Claims.

PROCEEDINGS UNDER THE ACT OF MARCH 3, 1887, GIVING CIRCUIT AND DISTRICT COURTS OF THE UNITED STATES CONCURRENT JURISDICTION WITH THE COURT OF CLAIMS.

Since the passage of the act of March 3, 1887 (chap. 359, 24 Stats. at Large, p. 511), 991 suits have been brought under its provisions, of which 102 cases are still pending in the circuit and district courts of the United States.

During the year ending November 1, 1892, 40 petitions have been filed in the circuit and district courts, in which the amount involved is $72,109.34, so far as the petitions show. In three cases the amount claimed is not stated.

At present there are 9 suits pending on appeal taken by the defendant in the circuit court of appeals, and 1 case pending on appeal taken by the petitioner. In the Supreme Court of the United States 14 cases are pending on appeal taken by the Government, and 2 cases pending on appeal taken by the petitioners.

During the past year 12 cases were decided adversely to the Government in the circuit and district courts, in which the amount claimed was $23,664.48, while the amount allowed was but $7,284.26. One case has been decided by the circuit court of appeals, and 6 cases by the Supreme Court of the United States since the passage of the act of March 3, 1887.

Under the terms of this act, the labor of the Department is greatly increased. Dockets of all suits are kept, the evidence is sought from the various Departments of the Government and transmitted to the district attorneys. In case of decisions adverse to the Government, the transcript of the record, including the pleadings, evidence, findings of fact and opinion of the court, are examined, and the district attorneys advised as to appeals.

In conclusion, I respectfully call attention to and renew the suggestions in my last report (pp. 7, 8), relative to the necessity for a reprint of the Court of Claims reports, in order that the United States judges, district attorneys, and others requiring them may be supplied.

Very respectfully,

JOHN B. COTTON,
Assistant Attorney-General.

EXHIBIT 4.—Report of the Assistant Attorney-General in charge of Indian depredation claims.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
Washington, D. C., November 15, 1892.

SIR: I respectfully submit the following report in regard to actions brought in the Court of Claims under the act of March 3, 1891, "to provide for the adjudication and payment of claims arising from Indian depredations," in which I am charged with the defense of the Government and Indians.

Up to November 1, 1892, there had been 8,596 petitions filed and actions commenced in the Court of Claims for damages arising from Indian depredations.

The aggregate amount of claims represented by such actions and for which judgment was asked by claimants is $33,151,050.67.

There have been judgments rendered in and a final disposition had of 337 cases, in 244 of which judgments were in favor of claimants, and in 93 of which judgments were in favor of the Government and Indians. The aggregate amount of judgments in favor of claimants up to November 1, 1892, which have not been set aside or reversed, is $482,718.87, the amounts of the original claims in such cases aggregating $904,457.31. The aggregate amount of the claims in the 93 cases in which judgments were rendered in favor of the Government is $469,300.25.

It thus appears that the original claims, finally disposed of by adjudication in the Court of Claims, under the act of March 3, 1891, aggre gate $1,373,757.50, and of this amount claimants have recovered judgments aggregating the sum of $482,718.87.

All judgments rendered in favor of claimants prior to July 1, 1892, were reported to Congress by the Attorney-General and provision made by act of Congress for the payment thereof.

The following is a list of all judgments rendered in favor of claimants in the Court of Claims up to July 1, 1892, in Indian depredation cases, giving the name of claimant, and the date and amount of judgment in each case:

Depositions on behalf of claimants have been taken in over five hundred cases, and on behalf of the Government and Indians in a portion of such cases. Special or assistant attorneys have appeared for the Government and Indians for the cross-examination of witnesses in each of such cases excepting two, in which depositions were taken upon written interrogatories in Canada and South America. Depositions have been taken in West Virginia, Alabama, Georgia, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, New York, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Washington.

These actions for losses arising from Indian depredations extend over a series of years from 1814, the time of the hostilities of the Winnebago Indians, to the Sioux war of the winter 1890 and 1891. The causes of action embrace nearly every section of the Union, and the damages claimed are as varied as were the property and customs of the people at the times and in the localities in which the depredations occurred.

The provision made by Congress for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1892, for the defense of this class of cases was $25,000, including the salary of the Assistant Attorney-General in charge. There are regularly employed in the defense of such actions, in addition to the Assistant Attorney-General provided by law, four assistant attorneys at salaries which aggregate $8,000 per annum; two law clerks each at a salary of $1,200 per annum; and one stenographer and typewriter, at $1,000 per annum. There are also temporarily employed, at salaries ranging from $8 to $10 per diem, with necessary expenses for traveling and subsistence, special attorneys on behalf of the Government and Indians, who appear in the taking of depositions in Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Kansas, Missouri, Utah, Idaho, and South Dakota.

In addition to these, the Osage Indians and certain tribes of the Sioux nation have employed attorneys to specially represent their interests. Such attorneys have been so selected and employed with the approval of this Department, and have acted for the defense of the Government as well as the Indians in the taking of testimony in the field.

The annual salaries of the regular employés engaged in the defense of these actions, chargeable to the appropriation for the fiscal year of 1892, aggregate $15,451.18, which leaves to be used for special attorneys, or those employed temporarily in the field, and the payment of expenses in taking depositions only $9,548.82, and of this sum there will remain unexpended by December 1, 1892, about $5,000. The present force employed is not sufficient to supply the demands for taking depositions on behalf of claimants in cases where both claimants and witnesses are aged and infirm and whose testimony may be lost unless taken at an early date. A reduction of the force would result either in a great hardship to the claimants or in a failure on the part of the Government to make the proper defense to the cases. To continue the employment of the present force during the year will require the expenditure of at least $10,000 in excess of the present appropriation, and this should be provided for by a deficiency appropriation early in the coming session of Congress.

There are about two hundred cases upon the docket for submission to the court which, under the act of March 3, 1891, are entitled to be given priority of consideration, and which have been examined by this office for the purpose of determining whether the Government will elect to reopen and try the same before the court or allow judgment to be rendered for the amount approved and allowed by the Secretary of the Interior. Some sixty cases have been placed upon the docket of the Court of Claims for hearing upon questions of law or fact at the adjourned term, and about twenty cases are in the hands of the court submitted upon issues of fact and undetermined.

Very respectfully,

L. W. COLBY,
Assistant Attorney-General.

Hon. W. H. H. MILLER,
Attorney-General.

* In explanation of the charge of $7 for conveyance from Bartlett to Frankenstein Mills and return, on September 1, I would say that this mill is situated on the side of a mountain many miles distant from any regular railroad station, and there is no stage route thereto. I was obliged to obtain private conveyance, and did so at the lowest price possible. All livery hire in this locality at this time of year is very high. Referring to the charge of $4 room rent in New York on September 10, being for two days, and $2.80 and $2.50 for same time for meals, I see it is in excess of the $4 limit. The only explanation I have to offer is the fact that I went to several hotels and tried to get a room for less, but could not at any respectable house.—
C. M. HORTON.

My work being in and about Cincinnati, Covington, and Newport, I went home at night, leaving the city at 4.45 p. m. and returning at 8.10 a. m. I have charged for carriage hire each day to and from depot, but have only charged one railroad fare. The expense for carriage is more than made up for in saving of board. I present no voucher for $2.25, horse and buggy from Walton to Fiskburg, Ky. The money was paid to George Arnold, of Walton; but in the dark I had him sign wrong voucher; hence no voucher is furnished.

So, the first thing that I want to say is that I am very pleased to see that the Commission has been able to reach a decision on this matter. I think that this is a very important step, and I hope that it will be followed by other similar decisions in the future. I think that the Commission has done a very good job, and I am sure that the members of the Assembly will be satisfied with the result.

EXHIBIT I.—Report of the Solicitor of the Treasury.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
OFFICE OF THE SOLICITOR OF THE TREASURY,
Washington, D. C., November 12, 1892.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith seven tabular statements exhibiting the amount, character, and results of the litigation under my direction for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, shown by the docket entries of this office.

These tables embrace respectively—

(1) Suits on transcripts of accounts of defaulting public officers, excepting those of the Post-Office Department, adjusted by the accounting officers of the Treasury Department.

(2) Post-office suits, embracing those against officers of the Post-Office Department, and cases of fines, penalties, and forfeitures for violation of postal laws.

(3) Suits on custom-house bonds.

(4) Suits for recovery of fines, penalties, and forfeitures under the customs-revenue and navigation laws.

(5) Suits against collectors of customs and other officers or agents of the Government, excepting internal-revenue officers, for refund of duties and acts done in line of their official duty.

(6) Suits in which the United States is a party, or is interested and not embraced in the other classes.

(7) A general summary or abstract of all the other tables.

An examination of the tables will show that the whole number of suits commenced within the year was 5,152, of which 12 were of class 1, for the recovery of $33,271.81; 540 were of class 2, for the recovery of $59,451.49; 38 were of class 3, for the recovery of $13,547.49; 247 were of class 4, for the recovery of $30,899.69; 308 were of class 5; and 4,007 were of class 6, for the recovery of $2,190,839.76; making a total sued for, as reported, of $2,328,010.24.

Of the whole number of suits brought, 3,157 were decided in favor of the United States, 43 were adversely decided, 667 were settled and dismissed; in 8 penalties were remitted by the Secretary of the Treasury, leaving 1,287 still pending.

Of those pending at the commencement of the year, 1,037 were decided for the United States, 94 were decided adversely; 1,770 were settled and dismissed, and in 3 penalties were remitted by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The whole number of suits decided or otherwise disposed of during the year was 6,769; the whole amount for which judgments were obtained, exclusive of decrees in rem, was $454,810.92; and the entire amount collected from all sources was $325,471.92.

The number of cases in which offers of compromise were pending and received during the fiscal year was 129, involving the sum of $4,208,310.28.

The number of offers accepted was 94, involving the sum of $4,009,065.80; amount accepted, $151,854.61.

The number of offers rejected was 18, involving the sum of $140,196.41; amount rejected, $18,635.14.

The number of offers pending at the close of the year was 15, involving the sum of $59,048.07; amount offered, $12,629.87.

A statement of real property in charge of this office, acquired in the collection of debts due the United States during the fiscal year or previously acquired and not heretofore reported, is also appended.

The number of letters and communications received by this office during the fiscal year was 8,771; the number of official bonds, contracts, leases, and deeds, received for examination as to their correctness in form and as to their legal sufficiency, and returned, was 921; the number of letters and communications sent out was 5,072; the number of opinions rendered on questions of law submitted by the Secretary of the Treasury or by the heads of bureaus of the Treasury Department was 99—that is, written opinions—exclusive of the larger number of verbal opinions touching various questions presented by the Secretary and the heads of bureaus and divisions.

I may add that the various cases of which this office has cognizance are entered in dockets which are kept for that purpose; and every step in the progress of a case from its inception to its close, as well as all the data relating thereto, are noted therein.

Very respectfully,

W. P. HEPBURN,
Solicitor.

Hon. W. H. H. MILLER,
Attorney-General of the United States.

EXHIBIT J.—Report of the Librarian.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
Washington, D. C., October 24, 1892.

SIR: I respectfully submit the following report upon the library of the Department of Justice for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, including a detailed statement of all books received by purchase, regular and special receipt, and a tabular statement of the receipt and distribution of the United States statutes and departmental publications:

A most pressing need of the library for years past has been for a subject catalogue. The library is well arranged, and it is an easy matter to locate any book in it; but for its greater usefulness there should be, for the use of the Department officials or other proper persons using the library, a catalogue showing every book in it bearing on any particular subject.

With this end in view I have begun the work, and pushed it as rapidly as was consistent with other duties. A fair start has been made. Much time, however, is taken in the distribution of United States statutes, in keeping the records in the manner prescribed by law, and in answering correspondence connected therewith. I would suggest, if the matter of the catalogue is deemed of sufficient importance, that Congress be asked to place upon the Department of the Interior the burden of distributing these statutes, as that Department is better equipped for such service and is already charged with the distribution of United States Supreme Court Reports.

It has frequently been requested that the attention of Congress be called to the insufficiency of the present appropriation to meet the growing needs of the library. I would suggest that the appropriation be not divided into $1,500 for law books, and $1,000 for session laws and statutes, but that it be increased $500, and made to read, as heretofore, "For law and miscellaneous books," etc., $3,000.

EXHIBIT L.—*Report of the Board of Trustees of the Reform School.REFORM SCHOOL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA,
*Washington, D. C., October 1, 1892.

SIR: Pursuant to law, I have the honor to submit herewith the twenty-third annual report of the board of trustees of the Reform School of the District of Columbia.

The school was established by Congress twenty-three years ago, and from that time to the close of the last fiscal year there have been received; educated, and cared for, 1,717 boys. At the beginning of the present fiscal year there were 206 boys in the school. During the past fiscal year there were 116 boys sent to the school. By the supreme court of the District of Columbia, 19; by the United States courts, under authority of the Attorney-General, 11; by the police courts of the District of Columbia, 71; and committed by the president of the board of trustees, 15.

Received on first commitment, 96; received on second commitment, 20.

The maximum number in the school during the fiscal year was 208; the minimum number, 181; the average number, 201. This average is larger than ever before attained in the school.

The number of boys discharged during the year is as follows: By the board of trustees under the rules of the school, 104; by change of sentence of court, 3; absent without leave, 6; died, 1.

The number remaining in the school at the close of the fiscal year was 208. The average time served by the boys who were discharged during the year was two years and one month.

For detailed statistics as to causes of, and religious training of boys prior to, commitment, parental relations, education, etc., and as to the operations of the school, I refer you to the report of the superintendent submitted with this.

On the 20th of July last, by direction of the board of trustees, I submitted an estimate of appropriations which were then thought necessary for the next fiscal year. The estimates for supplies were the same as submitted for the fiscal year previous, although there is a considerable increase in the number of inmates.

An addition of $300 to the salary of the superintendent and $100 to the salary of the assistant superintendent was asked for. As then stated in my communication to you, these officers are among the most poorly paid officers of like character in similar institutions throughout the United States. Our superintendent only receives $1,500 per annum, the assistant superintendent receives but $900 per annum. They work from early morn until late at night, and not infrequently all day and all night. They average from 12 to 15 hours a day, with grave responsibilities; and the small increase asked is justly due them, and it is earnestly urged that it be recommended to Congress at its next session.

The school as now established is intended for not to exceed 150 boys, but it now averages over 200, and is crowded beyond the limits of health and proper discipline. Daily am I called upon by parents of wayward boys to admit them to the school, but my invariable reply must be: "There is no more room." I have been obliged, also, to notify the judges of the police and criminal courts that the school was full, and no more boys could be received.

We therefore ask in these estimates for one additional family building, at a cost of $20,000.

Five hundred dollars in addition was asked for pay of teachers. The sum of $3,500 for this purpose was fixed some years ago. Since then the population of the school has largely increased, another building erected, and additional teachers had to be employed. To employ them we had to reduce the salaries of the other teachers, Congress failing to make the necessary appropriations. This was unjust to them, as the salaries they were then receiving were small enough. We have on several occasions urged upon Congress that their salaries be restored; and we again ask that this small addition be made to the appropriation for teachers to enable us to do so.

The other appropriations asked for are the same as those submitted for the last fiscal year, which were not provided for. Everything we ask is absolutely necessary for the health, convenience, and proper discipline and management of the school. Our estimates are modest, and it is hoped that they will be granted.

The estimates submitted to you on the 20th of July were as follows:

Salaries:

One superintendent	$1,800
One assistant superintendent	1,000
Teachers and assistant teachers	4,050
One matron of school	600
Three matrons of families, $180 each	540
Three foremen of workshops	1,980
One farmer	480
One engineer	396
One assistant engineer	300
One baker	420
One cook, one shoemaker, and one tailor, $300 each	900
Two dining-room servants, one seamstress, and one chambermaid, $144 each	576
One laundress	180
One florist	400
Watchmen, not exceeding six in number	1,140
Secretary and treasurer board of trustees	600

In all..... 15,362

For support of inmates, including groceries, flour, feed, meats, drygoods, leather and shoes, gas, fuel, hardware, furniture, farm implements and seeds, harness and repairs to same, fertilizers, books, stationery, plumbing, painting and glazing, medicines, medical attendance, stock, fencing, repairs to buildings, improvement of roadways, and other necessary items, including compensation not exceeding $1,000 for additional labor or services; and for transportation and other necessary expenses incident to securing suitable homes for discharged boys, not exceeding $500 in all

26,000

Buildings and improvements:

One additional family building, of brick, including heating apparatus, with connections, water supply, etc	20,000
For furnishing the same	1,200
For fencing the grounds	500
For two brick water closets, at $1,000 each	2,000
Grading and improvement of roadways and grounds	500

In all..... 24,200

After these estimates were submitted, however, the demand for admissions to the school became greater than ever—by the parents of the boys and by the courts. Daily appeals were made, and the courts urged most strongly that some provision be made for the many wayward boys brought before them. In every case the appeals, though most earnest and urgent, had to be refused. I had many interviews with the judges of the courts in person. I always had to reply that it was utterly impossible to take more boys, as we were then crowded beyond our capacity. The dormitories are so crowded that it is impossible to get another bed in them. The urgency became so great that the board of trustees had a number of meetings to consider what was best to be done. After much consultation and consideration they deemed it best to lay the whole matter before you and the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and ask for further appropriations. On the 26th of September the following supplemental estimates were submitted:

Two family buildings	$30,000
One chapel	12,000
Additional workshop	4,000
Additional dining-room and kitchen	12,000
Total	58,000

In submitting these estimates, as directed by the board of trustees, I stated in the communications of that date to you and to the Commissioners of the District of Columbia, that they were absolutely necessary to afford further accommodations at the school, to supply the great and pressing demand.

In addition to what was brought personally to the attention of the board, I have received letters from Judge Kimball of the police court, the superintendent of the workhouse, the warden of the jail, and from the clerk of the police court. Copies of these letters are herewith appended, marked Exhibits A, B, C, and D.

The superintendent of the workhouse reports that on the date of writing his letter there were 21 boys under 16 years of age in that institution on account of there being no room in the Reform School; and the warden of the jail reports that at that time there were 23 boys in jail for want of accommodations in the Reform School. The clerk of the police court states that during the past fiscal year there were at least 100 boys discharged or given nominal fines by the court, and turned loose upon the community for the same reason. This makes about 150 boys now at large, in the jail, or in the workhouse, where they ought not to be, because we can not receive and provide for them.

The present buildings at the school were erected to contain 150 boys. We now have more than 200, 50 more than we really should have. As said before, the dormitories are crowded beyond the limits of health, safety, and good order. Some time since we had a severe visitation of typhoid fever, from which one boy died. The disease still lingers, caused, as our physician says, by the overcrowded condition of our dormitories, and he has strongly urged that no more boys be received in the school until the number now there shall be materially reduced, and urges that never again they permit the dormitories to be in the overcrowded condition they are now in. He reports that we will always be liable to attacks of a like character just as long as we permit this condition of things. Contrary to the rules of the school, the laws of hygiene and morals, in many instances two boys have been required to occupy the same small single bed. It is unnecessary for me to say one word as to the great impropriety of this evil. It is, therefore, easy to see that accommodations are needed for 200 more boys, now on the community, in the jail, or work house, or overcrowding our dormitories, and if these buildings are given to us they will be filled almost as soon as completed. The serious alternative is presented: Shall these boys be sent to the Reform School, educated, cared for, taught useful occupations, and made good citizens, or permitted to fill the streets and crowd the jail and workhouse? This is a very serious question, and must now be met.

With an increased number of inmates an additional workshop must be provided. Those we have now, like our dormitories, are overcrowded. For this building $4,000 is asked.

Our dining room is also overcrowded with boys, certainly beyond both health and convenience, and if the additional family buildings are provided, the dining room and kitchen must be enlarged, and for this purpose $12,000 is asked.

One of the most, if not the most, important part of our work is the Christian influence exercised over our boys. To this end we must have ample chapel facilities and accommodations, and there has been asked therefor an appropriation of $12,000. I desire to say, however, that if the chapel is allowed we can do without the dining room, as the room now occupied as a chapel can, at a small expense, be converted into a dining room; but the kitchen we must have enlarged in any event, and for this purpose an appropriation of $2,000 is necessary. We must have either the additional dining room or the chapel.

On the 23d of November last the boiler house, just completed, was demolished by a cyclone. The board having no fund for repair of buildings the Commissioners of the District of Columbia paid for the repairs to the amount of about $2,000 from their emergency fund.

Some additional legislation, it is thought by the board of trustees, is necessary for the proper management and discipline of the school. On several occasions a bill has been introduced in Congress giving the trustees authority to discharge boys during their minority and return them to the school when it is shown that they have not conducted themselves properly or have not suitable homes or situations. Attention is again invited to this, and as a bill for this purpose was introduced at the last session of Congress and referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia, where it is still pending, I respectfully ask that you invite attention to it and urge favorable action.

Owing to the drought our farm has not yielded as bountifully as during the previous fiscal year, but it has done moderately well, and the crops we have gathered will, with care, it is thought, suffice for the needs of the school.

I submit herewith the report of the treasurer of the school, from which it appears that there was appropriated for the last fiscal year and received by the treasurer the following:

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

The superintendent has received from various sources during the year, and turned the same over monthly to Samuel W. Curriden, treasurer of the school, who has covered the same into the United States Treasury, for the credit of the United States and the District of Columbia, jointly, as follows, viz:

From paper-box industry	$2, 100. 00.
From sales of surplus farm products	437. 17
From greenhouses	826. 72
From miscellaneous sources	84. 81
Total	3, 448. 70

This being the only institution of its kind under national control, and located within sight of the National Capitol, it is respectfully submitted that it should receive additional recognition with reference to advance-ing its educational facilities, both in letters and in the mechanical arts. It would be the exercise of a wise economy on the part of Congress to establish, under specific limitations, and subject to the present management, a special department wherein boys of mature age, including those committed by authority of the United States courts, could be educated and thoroughly trained in some practical mechanical industry. We have now a number of these boys in every way worthy and eager to learn, together with many others equally deserving, who must either receive such instruction here or lose their only opportunity. This new department should be provided with ample means to secure a thorough equipment, and none but competent teachers should be employed. It should be prepared to give practical instruction in the higher branches of mathematics, mechanical drawing, civil engineering, telegraphy, stenography, wood carving, painting, plumbing, or in other useful and remunerative occupations now so generally taught, and practically applied in the higher grade public schools, and in many others similar to our own under State or municipal control.

No important changes have been made during the year in any department of the school work. Our present arrangement, by division into three separate families, became necessary when our new building was first occupied. The population was then but little over 150 boys; but it has been steadily growing ever since, with a present aggregate of over 200 boys. No provision has been made for this large percentage of increase, which from necessity has been temporarily cared for by an equitable distribution among the several families. The result is a present overcrowded condition in two of our buildings, especially in the sleeping apartments, making it unsafe and unjustly hazardous to the general health should any virulent contagious disease become epidemic. Our dormitories are all of good size and well ventilated, but their capacity is already overtaxed, and to an extent that must exclude under the law any further additions until relief of some kind is secured. The highest authorities in educational and reformatory work united with the most eminent physicians in protesting against the practice of overcrowding in our schools and hospitals under the too common pretense that it is for temporary purposes only, and to meet some pressing emergency.

The conclusion is forced, when these conditions are applied to either our present or future needs. The demand is for more room. One new building is required at once; and there should be still another provided without delay, both of similar design and of equal capacity with those now in use. This will also necessitate corresponding additions to our kitchen and boys' dining room, neither of which, within their present limits, would serve to accommodate any further increase in our population. We need yet another building—a school, chapel, or boys' assembling hall, call it by what name we may—there can be no question as to its practical utility. It should be a model building of its kind, of ample dimensions, and altogether an attractive and substantial structure, and so placed that in our present group of buildings it would become a central figure, not simply by reason of its location, but rather because of the varied opportunities it would offer alike to all, as an incentive to higher and better ways of living.

Regular school sessions have been held in each family schoolroom during the fall and winter months. Each boy is required to spend a portion of his time in school, and all are taught to read and write and recite the multiplication table readily. Recitations are made in written and mental arithmetic daily and the blackboard is freely used by the more advanced classes. A creditable knowledge of the elementary branches is required of every boy in addition to a commendable record for good behavior before he can receive his honorable discharge. This standard in educational advancement is the minimum required, but we discharge many boys capable of entering the higher grades in our district public schools. In one family recitations are made in history, algebra, and geometry by a limited number, while others receive lessons in practical bookkeeping and elocution. The most encouraging part of our school work, however, centers in a given number of the older boys, who come to us by authority of the United States courts and often from far distant States and Territories, and without educational knowledge beyond the alphabet or perhaps a capacity to spell correctly words of a single syllable. They are not ignorant from any fault of their own and therefore more deserving on account of the rapid progress they make and for the interest taken in their books and studies. Some of these boys have been advanced during a single school term from a knowledge of the alphabet only to a position that would entitle them to honorable discharge under the rules.

Our text-books are substantially the same as those in use in the district public schools. Our teachers are also officers in charge of the several families, and are, therefore, in addition to their work in the school sessions, continuously responsible for the care and discipline of their respective charges. Their duties are onerous and exacting, averaging from ten to fourteen hours daily, Sundays and holidays not excepted. For the amount of labor performed and the responsibility it imposes, their remuneration is far below the average for similar services in our public schools. Permit me, in this connection, to ask your earnest efforts in securing the small advance in their salaries named in your estimates for the coming year.

When not occupied in the school sessions all are employed at some kind of manual labor during a portion of each working day, as we find no use for idle or lazy boys.

Our paper-box industry is steadily enlarging and improving, as shown by the very creditable exhibit made in the increase of its moneyed income. But this is not the most important part of its usefulness, as the practical knowledge it confers must prove a lasting benefit to a large number of our younger boys. The work is comparatively light and in many respects attractive, even to children of moderate ability, and yet often requiring both skill and experience to make them proficient in all its parts. It has the further advantage of being rated as a regular trade, and as such is rapidly assuming a business importance in every manufacturing center.

The general health of the school has been uniformly preserved throughout the year, and may be reported as above the average. Much care and attention has been given to the sanitary condition of the buildings and school grounds. A constant and judicious application of the best known disinfectants has been made under the direction and with the approval of our visiting physicians. No virulent disease has at any time assumed an epidemic form, and but a single death has occurred during the fiscal year.

No efforts have been spared to guard against the possible introduction of foreign or contagious diseases of whatever kind. Our natural elevation must always favor an abundant supply of pure air, and our water supply is from deep springs or wells, walled and cemented as a protection against surface drainage. The buildings are all free from dampness, having concreted basement floors, with good means for ventilation in all their parts, and are kept, day by day, in a thoroughly clean condition. Dr. Charles A. Wells, as also his business associate.

Dr. Richardson, makes official visits to the school when summoned, or oftener, as emergencies may require. Dr. Wells, as the senior physician, and having had long continued official connection with this responsible branch of the school work, continues to make his annual report to the board of trustees concerning its conditions and wants.

From its earliest organization, and by the authority of the board of trustees, the school has been conducted upon the highest plane of moral and religious thought and action. To serve this end it has been the uniform custom throughout all these years to hold a service of this character each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, in the large hall in the south wing of the main building. All officials connected with the school are expected to be present on such occasions. These services are in no sense sectarian or exclusive, and are never held in the special interest of any one branch or denomination of the Christian Church. They have been conducted, as they still are, alternately, by ministers and others connected with different religious organizations, whether in the District of Columbia or in other localities. It should be matter of record that during all this time no provision has ever been made by Congress to remunerate in any substantial manner the many generous-hearted men and women who have thus from week to week voluntarily given their time and talents to serve the institution in this important part of its reformatory work. Permit me, therefore, to suggest that you make early application to Congress for a reasonable appropriation sufficient to cover the cost of an expenditure so just and proper.

The past has not been an exceptional year, as the same routine of religious duty has been faithfully adhered to, both as to time and manner of holding each Sabbath-day exercise. All are still cordially invited to attend and join with us in these religious devotions. Many thanks to our good friends everywhere and of every name who have given us timely aid and helpful sympathy in this work for the Master.

The Rev. Father Russell, of Hyattsville, Md., continues to hold and conduct a religious visitation at the school in the morning of the fourth Sunday of every month, in the special interest of our Catholic boys. These same boys also receive instructions in the tenets of their religious faith from their friends in the city, who visit the school every Sunday evening for such purpose.

No radical changes have been made in our working force during the year. It gives me great pleasure to be able to speak without reserve and in just commendation of our present corps of officers and employés. Many of them are deserving of special mention here, and notably among these our worthy and efficient assistant superintendent, Mr. I. D. Porter. His position is one of continuous activity, requiring much tact and patience, and above all integrity of purpose, with ability to do the right thing at the right time and in the right way. He has satisfactorily discharged his duties under these qualifications, and I commend him, with all others as at present employed, to your favorable notice and approving judgment.

In closing, gentlemen, members of the board of trustees, I trust your indulgence will excuse these somewhat lengthened pages. I thank you sincerely for your confidence and the favor that has kept me so long associated with you in this work.

May there be fullness of grace and blessing for the coming year.

Respectfully submitted.

G. A. SHALLENBERGER,
Superintendent.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES
OF THE REFORM SCHOOL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

*Report of attending physician.*REFORM SCHOOL OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, Washington, D. C., June 30, 1892.

GENTLEMEN: During the year just passed, while we have happily had no epidemic, there have been quite a number of cases of serious illness, one boy, Matthew Boon, aged 15, dying August 11 of peritonitis. Among so many boys there is likely to be not only illness, but accidents of various kinds, many of them so trifling and temporary as not to require detention in the hospital. During the year there were three cases of fracture of the leg, all having been received while at play.

Every effort is made to keep the buildings in healthful and wholesome condition; the dormitories are daily scrubbed, and carbolic acid added. The closets are flushed with a solution of copperas, 75° to a barrel of water; our windows kept open, and basement ventilated and whitewashed. I make frequent inspection, and know that this work is thoroughly done. On the outside the same rule as to cleanliness is observed. Rubbish and litter is destroyed, and where our sewers empty copperas and quicklime are freely used. And while in this connection, I desire to urgently recommend that the sewer be carried some 150 yards farther from the buildings, where I find it can be emptied into a ravine which will be fairly well flushed after any good rain.

I must further urge that the windows to the dormitories in family "A" building be supplied with wire netting on the outside. This will enable the windows to be raised to their full height, improving very materially the ventilation. This is more important than would appear at first sight, because of the overcrowded condition of the dormitories. In "A" family building, designed to accommodate fifty boys, between sixty-five and seventy are usually found sleeping; and the same ratio holds good as to the dormitories in the north wing of the main building. If I may be allowed, I will go still further and recommend that the number of inmates be reduced or more dormitory space be added.

I again renew my request that outside closets be added to "A" family building and the main buildings. An inspection of the closets now in use at the "new building" is the best argument I can offer.

Very respectfully,

CHARLES A. WELLS, M. D.,
Attending Physician.

WASHINGTON ASYLUM,
Washington, D. C., August 19, 1892.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of August 18, requesting information as to the number of colored boys in this institution, would state that there is now in the workhouse 21 boys of 16 years of age or over.

Very respectfully,

W. H. STOUTENBURGH,
Intendant Washington Asylum.

A. J. FALLS, Esq.,
President Board of Trustees, Reform School, D. C.

EXHIBIT B.

UNITED STATES JAIL,
Washington City, D. C., September 3, 1892.

SIR: In reply to yours of date September 1, I have to say, assuming that all under 16 years of age are here because of the crowded condition of the Reform School, that there are at this date twenty-three, ranging in age from 10 years to 16. One or two may be older, and I feel quite sure one or two are less than 10.

I do hope that you may be successful in your efforts to provide additional accommodations for these young violators of the law. This is no place for them, for with all the precautions we take with them they learn nothing but bad from older criminals, and give us more trouble than the older ones do while confined here.

Very respectfully,

J. B. BURKE,
Warden.

A. J. FALLS,
President of Board.

EXHIBIT C.

POLICE COURT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA,
Washington, D. C., September 6, 1892.

DEAR SIR: In reply to your letter of July 20, asking for information as to how many boys under the age of 16 during the fiscal year ending June 30 last were committed to the jail and workhouse for want of room and accommodations in the Reform School, etc., it would be impossible for me to give you the exact number; but I should say that at least fifty were sent there for that reason, and probably twice that number were discharged or given a nominal fine for the same cause.

We have had a number of small boys arrested under the age of 16 for petty thieving around the market houses and on the public streets, and for want of a place to send them, they being of too tender years to be sent to jail to mingle with those who are more hardened in crime, the hands of the court have been tied, and they have been turned loose upon the community to repeat their nefarious acts. I sincerely trust that Congress at its next session will make provision whereby these boys can be provided for.

I would have answered your letter long ago, but I have been very busy, and things are now upside down, as we are now undergoing repairs. I trust you will pardon the delay.

Very truly, yours,

JOSEPH HARPER,
Deputy Clerk Police Court, D. C.

MR. A. J. FALLS,
President Reform School.

EXHIBIT D.

POLICE COURT OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA,
Washington, D. C., September 10, 1892.

SIR: I reply to your letter of the 8th instant, that it is impossible to overstate the great need of additional accommodations at the Boys' Reform School. There have been brought before me in the last year a number of boys charged with picking pockets and other crimes, including house-breaking, for whom there was no room at the Reform School, and they were so young I did not want to send them to jail or the workhouse. Unless something is done to stop the criminal careers of such boys, they will become hardened criminals and outcasts, and cost society many times the amount it would cost to keep them at the Reform School, besides the loss of their honest labor as men. I have now at the workhouse two boys waiting for a vacancy at the school, one of whom, a boy about 10 years of age, helped to pick the pocket of a lady at the market some weeks ago of $370, and a few days ago he, with three others, picked the pocket of another lady in one of our markets. As a result of the crowded condition of the school, and the constant efforts of the judges to find room for such boys as I have referred to, another evil has arisen which could be obviated by more room, that is, the boys are discharged to make room for new boys before they ought to be, and they go back to their old associations and very soon fall into the old life, but under the circumstances I do not see how it can be avoided; the boy discharged has had at least two years of a better life than any he has ever known before and in his place is taken a boy who has arrived at the point where something must be done at once to save him, or all chance of reformation is gone.

This city is increasing rapidly, and with the increase in population is necessarily an increase in the number of boys who, for the sake of society and their own sake, ought to be sent to the Reform School. I do not believe that a boy who has gone so far in his downward path as those I have referred to, ought to be discharged before he becomes of age, and none others unless the evidence is very clear that they have reformed. I can not, of course, say in a letter all that is in my mind, but you can not emphasize too strongly the necessity for more buildings.

Very respectfully,

I. G. KIMBALL,
Judge Police Court.

A. J. FALLS, Esq.,

families. Dr. McWilliams, as will be seen by his report herewith attached, has taken all the precaution known to the profession to protect, as far as possible, this institution and the community from a spread of the smallpox from the one case now being treated in the smallpox hospital.

No one knows better, perhaps, than does Dr. McWilliams the danger from overcrowding of prisoners, its dangerous effect, etc., and which has been forced upon us to a greater extent this year than at any other time in the history of this jail, as will be seen by a reference to the accompanying tables, showing the number of prisoners received at the jail during the year, the daily average, etc. No record is kept of their respective ages, but if one had been it would show that the increase is due in a measure to an increased number of boys committed, some of very tender age. It is noticed that this class is on the increase, and the physician in his report but expresses the opinion of the other officers of the jail. In this connection I may be pardoned for suggesting the advisability of requiring the teachers in public schools to bring to the attention of their pupils the statutes and ordinances in force in the District of Columbia forbidding the commission of certain misdemeanors which are made punishable by fines and penalties. In this connection let me refer to "An act for the preservation of the public peace," etc., passed by Congress and approved July 29, 1892. Among other things, that act forbids the throwing of stones or other missiles in any street, under a penalty of not more than $5 for every offense. It also forbids the flying of kites or fire balloons within the limits of Washington and Georgetown, under a penalty of not more than $10. The same act forbids the use of profane language or engaging in disorderly conduct, under a penalty of not exceeding $25 for each offense. It also makes it unlawful to cause dogs to fight, or cause them to run after, bark at, frighten, or bite any person or animal. It forbids in any manner an injury to the trees growing in the District of Columbia. The kindling of bonfires is also forbidden. But few children know anything concerning these and similar laws. If brought to their attention it would save many parents and children much trouble. The requisite information could be easily obtained by our school trustees and placed in the possession of the teachers with such directions as might be thought advisable, and thus to some degree, avoid the annoyance incident to the arrest and prosecution of children for petty offenses.

I take great pleasure in reporting the fidelity and energy manifested by all the officers and employés attached to this institution.

Statistics concerning numbers of prisoners reaching the jail during the year and extent of expenses of the jail for the year closed October 31, 1892, are submitted and a comparison with other years is invited.

HOSPITAL DEPARTMENT, UNITED STATES JAIL,
Washington, D. C., October 31, 1892.

SIR: We have had no deaths to record since my last report, but we unfortunately have had more than our usual amount of sickness, which may, in a manner, be attributed to the crowded condition of the prison and the character of the persons who compose the large majority of the inmates. Diarrhea and dysentery have been quite prevalent, and there has been a very large increase in the number of cases of those diseases, so common to the depraved mode of life led by the class we have to deal with. It would be useless to call your attention to what may be termed the dilapidated state of the jail building—the leaky roof, the defective guttering, and the insufficient heating apparatus. The latter, in my opinion, has never answered the purpose for which it was intended, and unless some improvement is made immediately there must ensue great suffering from this cause. I regret to say that the meat furnished during the greater part of the summer has not come up to the required standard of purity, and, in many instances, was unfit for use. The water used for drinking and cooking has, on examination, proved to be up to the standard. One of the chief causes of trouble we have to contend with is the very large number of children (some of them of tender age) sent to the jail, and a reform in this respect is urgently called for. They require more care than all the other prisoners; the energy of the officers is taxed to the utmost to care for them. It is utterly impossible to prevent their being contaminated by the older adepts in crime, though the utmost care is taken to keep them separate. They enter the prison mere children, and leave it at the end of their term more hardened and more expert in evil. The same faces come to us as children and men year after year, until we lose sight of them for a long term in the penitentiary or on the gallows.

The crowded state of the prison during the past year has been a source of much uneasiness, and I feel certain that but for the vigilance exercised by the officers in strictly enforcing the rules for the health and cleanliness of the inmates we should have been visited by an outbreak of fever. The want of room is sadly felt, as we are now compelled to put five men in cells that should only afford room for two. Unless additional cells are built (I should say at least one hundred) it will be almost impossible to keep the prisoners from disease. I had hoped that by this time the "pesthouse" that stands almost within a stone's throw of the jail would have been destroyed, but on inquiry I could not discover to whose jurisdiction it belongs, and finding no result from my efforts to obtain light on the subject, I was compelled to abandon it in despair. As the smallpox is now in that building it is only reasonable to expect a serious outbreak of it in the jail. As our only hope of safety is in vaccination I shall have every one vaccinated as soon as he enters.

As soon as I learned that the smallpox was in the hospital I vaccinated every prisoner in the jail.

Allow me to add my grateful acknowledgments of the kindness and courtesy and valuable assistance I have invariably received from yourself and the officers of the prison.

Respectfully yours,

A. M. WILLIAMS,
Physician United States Jail.

Maj. J. B. BURKE,
Warden United States Jail.

EXHIBIT N.—*Report of the Architect of the Capitol.*ARCHITECT'S OFFICE, UNITED STATES CAPITOL,
Washington, D. C., November 10, 1892.

SIR: I have the honor to report that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1892, the following improvements and repairs have been made to the court-house of this city.

In compliance with the act approved March 3, 1891, for the improvement of the ventilation of this building, a large duct was constructed running from the air passage within to a brick tower erected in the grounds, about 70 feet from the west end of the building. The air is drawn down this tower and along the duct by means of a fan, propelled by steam, for which purpose a steam engine and boiler have been supplied. The entire air duct has been floored with asphaltic pavement, and a brick wall built along its length against the stone wall, leaving an air space between, so that now this duct is free of any dampness from condensation by reason of the air coming in contact with the cold walls, as formerly.

This general arrangement insures a constant and sufficient supply of air to the court rooms and the office rooms in the new part of the building at all times when the fan is run, so that the air supply is independent of the force or direction of the winds.

As directed by the court, the circuit court room has been changed by placing the bench at the western instead of the eastern end as heretofore, and the railings have been moved and reset to conform to this change. The walls and ceilings of this room and that of the judge's adjoining have been painted.

Various improvements in connection with the plumbing have been made and the interior kept in good repair. The amount expended for these improvements is $5,180.

I can not refrain from again alluding to the repairs required at the exterior of the court-house. The walls require painting, the sandstone work patching, not only for the sake of appearances, but as a preventive from further immediate dilapidation.

In compliance with the act approved May 13, 1892, the construction of a building one story high for a files room for the Court of Claims adjoining the building of the Department of Justice has been commenced and made ready for its roof.

Very respectfully, yours,

EDWARD CLARK,
Architect U. S. Capitol.

Hon. W. H. H. MILLER,
Attorney-General, Department of Justice.

EXHIBIT P.—Report of the Attorney of the United States for the district of Utah upon the Mormon Church litigation.

OFFICE OF UNITED STATES ATTORNEY,
Salt Lake City, November 14, 1892.

SIR: In compliance with your request I submit report of condition and prospect of all Mormon Church litigation, and progress of the same during the year, as follows:

On December 4th, 1891, the district court gave judgment escheating to the United States the real property in the actions mentioned in my report of last year as—

No. 7503 (Tithingyard and office).

No. 7504 (Guardo house and historian's office).

No. 7505 (Church farm and coal lands).

At the last term of the Territorial supreme court, I moved for an order directing the receiver to deliver possession of the realty to the Secretary of the Interior, which motion has not yet been acted upon. In the meantime, case No. 7504 has been appealed to the Territorial supreme court, and I am advised by counsel that the other two cases will also be taken up for review. In this event the three appeals will be heard, and probably determined, at the next (January) term. Last year proceedings were instituted in the third district court to escheat certain other real property situate in Salt Lake City as the property of the late corporation of Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, to wit: East half of block 87; part of lot 7, block 88; and part of lot 5, block 88; all in plat "A," Salt Lake City survey. On October 27, 1891, these proceedings were dismissed upon motion made by direction of the Attorney-General. The following, stated in the motion papers, sufficiently shows the reasons for this action:

That it has been made sufficiently to appear to the said Attorney-General that, when the property of the defendants was turned over to the receiver appointed by the supreme court of the Territory, and the agreed statements of facts made and filed upon which the Decree of said Court was rendered, that the defendants understood that the property mentioned in said Decree was to be considered as all the property belonging to the said Corporation, and that the said Decree should be considered as a finality, and no other property should ever be claimed or seized or in any way pursued by the United States as belonging to, or having belonged to, said Corporation at the time of the dissolution thereof, and that said statement and Decree should be an end to all litigation in the premises, except in the prosecution of the informations for the escheat and forfeiture of the real estate mentioned in said Decree; and that but for such understanding on the part of the defendants the delivery of the property aforesaid would not have been made, nor said stipulation agreed to by them,

Now, therefore, It appearing to the said Attorney-General that it is manifestly just and equitable that the understanding of the said defendants should be recognized, the said United States, by its Attorney-General and District Attorney, move the court to dismiss this action and proceeding.

For like reasons, and by direction of the Attorney-General, motion was made in the supreme court of the Territory for an order directing the receiver to dismiss the following actions:

IN THE FIRST DISTRICT COURT, OGDEN.

Frank H. Dyer, receiver of the late corporation of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, plaintiff, vs. David M. Stuart, Robert McQuarrie, The Church Association of the Weber Stake of Zion, a so-called corporation, and Ogden City, a corporation, defendants. No. 1630.

Frank H. Dyer, receiver of the late corporation of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, plaintiff, vs. Robert McQuarrie and the Church Association of the Weber Stake of Zion, a so-called corporation, defendants. No. 1671.

Frank H. Dyer, receiver of the late corporation of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, plaintiff, vs. Richard J. Taylor and Lewis W. Shurtliff, defendants. No. 1672.

IN THIRD DISTRICT COURT, SALT LAKE CITY.

Henry W. Lawrence, receiver of the late corporation of Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, plaintiff, vs. James A. Eldredge, Ben. R. Eldredge, Lewis S. Hills, Thomas G. Webber, and Le Grande Young, executors of the last will of Horace S. Eldredge, deceased, John C. Outler, Royal B. Young, Joseph Young, Henry Dinwoody, Edward Morris, Heber J. Grant, George F. Gibbs, C. R. Savage, Elias Morris, W. A. Rossiter, J. H. Parry, H. B. Clawson, Caroline E. Dye, Wooley, Young, & Hardy Co., a corporation, Salt Lake Literary and Scientific Association, a corporation, and the Home Fire Insurance Co., a corporation, defendants. *No. 8852.

This motion was granted and the cases dismissed by the Receiver.

As you are advised by my report of last year, the supreme court of the Territory, in pursuance of the decree of the Supreme Court of the United States, appointed a master in chancery—

To report a scheme for the ascertainment and determination of such charitable uses, lawful in their character, as may most nearly correspond to those which it was originally destined for the personal property referred to and described in the Decree of this court, and now in the hands of the Receiver of the court, strictly in accordance with said final Decree as modified by the direction of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Two "schemes" were presented.

One by the United States, proposing the application of the personalty for the benefit of the common schools of the Territory.

The other was presented by the President and Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, and proposed the vesting of the fund in the First Presidency of said Church and their successors in office, to apply the income thereof to the relief of the poor of the church and to the building, maintenance, or repair of houses of worship.

The master reported in favor of the "scheme" proposed by the Government, to which exceptions were filed and arguments heard thereon in August last. On the 12th instant the court delivered its opinion and entered a decree disapproving the scheme reported by the master, and approving the scheme presented by the Church so far as the application of the fund is concerned, but declined to vest the fund in the First Presidency, and appointed Leonard G. Hardy, a bishop in the Church, a commissioner for the execution of the decree under the direction of the court. In pursuance of the special as well as general authority conferred on me by you, I caused exceptions to be noted at the foot of the decree, together with an order making the proofs taken by the master, and returned with his report, a part of the record as fully as if incorporated in a bill of exceptions, and thereupon obtained an order allowing an appeal and staying proceedings. In due time the record on appeal will be transmitted.

I felt constrained to this action, because of the gravity of the questions involved, as well as the result reached. This judgment practically returns the fund to the very hands from which it was taken, and should be reviewed by the Supreme Court. For your further information, I mail with this report a printed copy of the opinion.

Since my last report all of the personalty, consisting of sheep, gas, and other stocks, has been sold by order of the court, and the fund in the hands of the Receiver on October 10, 1892, the date of his last report, amounted to $429,770.10.

This sum is distributed among the several banks in the city, and draws interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. The realty hereinbefore mentioned is also yielding reasonable rents. It gives me pleasure to commend the administration of the present Receiver as efficient and economical.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. S. VARIAN,
United States Attorney.

The ATTORNEY-GENERAL,
Washington, D. C.

EXHIBIT Q.—Report of Special Assistant Attorney Charles S. Whitman upon the status of the Bell Telephone Case.

BOSTON, November 12, 1892.

SIR: In accordance with the instructions contained in your letter of November 10, I have the honor to submit the following report in the case of The United States of America v. American Bell Telephone Company et al.

On January 11, 1892, the deposition of the last witness for the complainant was signed, and notice was given that the complainant rested. The record shows that on January 11, 1892, the complainant had called and examined 103 witnesses, and that 94 of these witnesses had given testimony directed solely to the telephonic invention of Daniel Drawbaugh.

The subjects to which the other 9 witnesses were directed were as follows:

The testimony of Prof. George F. Barker related in part to the telephonic inventions of Daniel Drawbaugh and in part to the want of novelty of the inventions described and claimed in the patents of Alexander Graham Bell. During the taking of Prof. Barker's deposition the prior patents and printed publications set up in the bill of complaint were introduced in evidence.

The testimony of 2 witnesses, examined in October, 1891, related principally to certain electrical apparatus for transmitting sound, invented by Prof. Pickering, of Harvard University, and to the information concerning it communicated by Prof. Charles E. Cross to Alexander Graham Bell prior to alleged invention of Bell.

The testimony of 1 witness, examined in November, 1891, related to matters connected with the alleged invention of the telephone by Alexander Graham Bell.

The testimony of 4 witnesses, examined in November and December, 1891, related to the invention of a magneto-telephone by Prof. Amos A. Dolbear, of Tufts College, Massachusetts, and to the communication of information concerning such invention to Alexander Graham Bell.

The testimony of the last witness called by the complainant related to the alleged knowledge of Alexander Graham Bell of the Drawbaugh telephone in 1875 and 1876.

The defendants having moved for an order of court allowing until October 1, 1892, within which to take testimony in their behalf, a hear-

December 4, 1891, stipulation filed (John T. Little and I. G. Pickering to take answers filed by them).

February 3, 1892, motion for leave to amend bill of complaint making new parties defendant filed by complainant.

March 5, 1892, order for leave to complainant to amend bill by insertion of new names; leave to file cross-bill filed.

March 7, 1892, cross bills of J. L. Lewis, L. B. Senter, W. H. Brady, Robert C. Brown, Adam Clinkscales, D. Hubbard filed.

March 7, 1892, appearance to cross-bill of D. Hubbard filed.

March 5, 1892, answers of Black Bob Band to cross-bills of J. L. Lewis, L. B. Senter, W. H. Brady, Robert C. Brown, Adam Clinkscales, D. Hubbard.

March 17, 1892, chancery subpoena issued for new parties returnable to May rule day 1892.

April 23, 1892, appearance of Rosa Cook, Wm. I. Isabel, and Ross C. Gorsuch, by I. G. Pickering, attorney, filed.

April 28, 1892, chancery subpoena returned and filed; served on Mary C. Shane, N. G. Miller, C. B. Hargis, Isaac M. Hunter, James Crippen, Julia Crippen, Charles Hilbus, Thomas L. Moore, Amos Bailey, Rosa Hilbus, Isabel Gorsuch, G. Gorsuch, George M. Noble.

April 29, 1892, appearances of Amos Bailey, Mary C. Shane, T. L. Moore, N. G. Miller, J. C. B. Hargis, Isaac M. Hunter, S. L. Martin, filed.

April 30, 1892, appearances of B. Eder, B. Fisher, Annie Bailey, Chas. Hilbus filed.

June 9, 1892, order for time to take testimony extended until 1st day of next term filed.

June 13, 1892, separate answer and cross-bill of W. R. Wagstaff filed.

July 29, 1892, cross-complaint of Thomas H. Mastin filed.

September 10, 1892, answer of George M. Noble filed.

September 10, 1892, cross-bill of Geo. M. Noble filed.

October 31, 1892, cross-bill of W. R. Wagstaff filed.

We expect to have this case for submission to the court at the June, 1893, term. While the issues have been joined between certain parties for some time, I did not feel that it would be to the interest of the Government to take the testimony as to part when the case could not be closed and the expense to the Government would be so much greater, as it would involve several trips to the Territory to take the testimony, and therefore I have been urging the parties in default to file their pleadings in the case. The issues will be fully joined by the first of January, and the testimony taken within the next few months. This course has been pursued by both Mr. Ogg and myself, not only to save expense, but because the judge of the court desired to have the case closed in one decree and not have various decrees filed in the cause. The settlers being in possession of the land, the only loss, if any, is to the speculators, and a perusal of the entries in the appearance docket will show that these parties are the ones who have been chiefly in default.

I have the honor to remain your obedient servant,

J. W. ADY,
United States Attorney.
